Doane breaks ground on president's new home

BY KEATON BURGESS
reporter@sewardindependent.com

Doane University is building a new home for the university's president that will offer more space than the previous one.

Brian Flesner, director of Facilities Operations and Construction Projects at Doane, said the university needed an upgrade from the previous house.

"The existing home has provided a nice living space for Doane's previous and current president, but it never quite provided adequate space or parking for events or college functions," he said. "Having been discussed for several years now, it was determined that it was the appropriate time to increase the functionality of Doane's President's Residence and Event Venue."

Genesis Contracting of Lincoln has taken on the project and started construction.

Flesner said the current focus of construction will be on-site clearing, earthwork and site utilities.

Doane is hoping the construction will be completed in June of 2023.

Along with knowing approximately when it will be finished, Flesner said they know what the home will look like.

"The President's Residence and Event Venue will be a two-level prairie-style home that includes a basement," he said. "It will feature an adequate blend of bedrooms and bathrooms that will support guests and the event spaces within the building."

The home will be located on the southeast portion of campus near College Heights Country Club.

Flesner said most people at the university approve of the new home.

"I will say that I think everyone is looking forward to having a facility that will support Doane University well into the future," he said. "It has received a lot of support and we are all excited to see it completed."

Small business George+Maeve opens in Crete

BY HANNA CHRISTENSEN
The Crete News

Jody Domangue, mother of five, moved her small business to Crete this year, and she said the community support she has received demonstrates that local people care about shopping at small businesses.

George + Maeve is located at 1144 Main Ave. and sells mainly children's and baby clothes and goods.

Domangue was born near Grand Island and graduated from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln with a bachelor's degree in elementary education.

However, instead of following the education path, she found a love for photography and began doing that full time. She started running her own photography business in Lincoln called J Gallery in 2003.

She said owning a children's clothing and goods store was something she was always interested in, and in 2019 the timing lined up perfectly.

She was pregnant with her fifth child and there was a space open that would work well for the business.

"I have five kids, so shopping small was always something I love to do—trying to find different, unique things for my kids that I wasn't going to find in every store," she said.

George + Maeve sells big brand items along with items from mom and pop shops that only sell to local boutiques.

Domangue said she will also have more women's and gift items for sale in the coming year.

She named her shop after her two daughters, Georgia and Maeve. Her 10-year-old son, Miles, suggested she change "Georgia" to "George" in the name so people know the shop sells boy items as well. That's just what she did.

Domangue's husband, Matt, owns his own property management business, Arrow Capital. When Domangue told him she wanted to start George + Maeve, he was all for it.

She said he has sup-

Bessler hits milestone in career assists

BY KEATON BURGESS
reporter@sewardindependent.com

Reagan Bessler

At a volleyball tournament in Scottsbluff on Sept. 30, the Crete volleyball team's setter hit a milestone that she won't forget anytime soon.

Junior Reagan Bessler recorded 1,000 career assists during the first day of the weekend tournament in Scottsbluff.

Bessler said her love for volleyball started in elementary.

"I first started playing volleyball for the Crete YMCA team in fifth grade, and have stuck with the sport ever since," she said. "I basically got into volleyball because my parents put me in every sport possible as a kid, and volleyball was the only one I genuinely enjoyed."

Although Bessler hit the milestone as a setter, she started out playing other positions when she was younger.

"I actually first started my career as an outside hitter, but made the switch to setting in eighth grade," she said. "The other setter on our team got injured during the season, so our middle school coach at the time asked me to step up to fill the role, and I absolutely loved it right away."

When Bessler's parents saw that she enjoyed setting and that she probably wouldn't be tall enough to continue to be an outside hitter, they contacted a private coach to sign her up for lessons.

"I also tried out for club volleyball that same year and made a team," Bessler said. "My freshman year was the first year I became a true setter, and through my sophomore year, I gained my confidence on the court and made connections with my hitters. Since then only good things have happened."

Now becoming interested in setting, Bessler said she started to look up to former Nebraska volleyball player Kelly Hunter. Hunter is a three-time Husker All-American and two-time national champion. She was promoted to assistant coach for the Huskers in December of 2021.

"I basically grew up watching her play for the Huskers, but really didn't really pay super close attention to her until I actually became interested in becoming a setter myself," she said. "Since then, I have always looked up to both her and Nicklin Hames."

Through her time learning, Bessler figured out that she has ways she likes to prepare for each match.

Physically, she said her preparation comes from warmups and music.

"I almost always go into the locker room and jam out to some music with the rest of my team, but on the court right before warmups, I try to stay warm by warming up my hands and by setting against the wall," she said. "Sometimes in the other gym, I run a couple of connection sets with my hitters just to get a good feel right before the game."

Although warming up is an important part of Bessler's game, getting ready mentally is a key piece.

"For the mental aspect of the game, I like to sit down and take a few moments to myself to clear my head and focus," she said. "Coach Makayla Westphal also likes to have all of us huddle up and take a few moments of quiet to visualize the game, which I find helps me a lot. After I take time to focus, I like getting more hype by jamming out to some music, connecting with my team and getting my energy up to lock in."

When the Cardinals traveled to Scottsbluff, Bessler knew she was getting close to the record, but didn't know she hit it until after the game.

"The first thing I did was call my parents to tell them and texted my lessons coach to tell her I finally got it," she said. "I could not have done it without our back row and our attackers. They gave me this record and I would never be close to this record without them."

Along with team members helping her reach this milestone, Bessler said the relationship between members of the team is important.

"In my opinion, I feel I have a really good relationship with Coach Westphal and the rest of the team," she said. "All of us are pretty close, so connections on the court just happen more naturally for all of us. Not only that, but my teammates are also my best friends."

Although they can be overlooked at times, Bessler said she thinks setters are important because they are the main offensive player on the team.

"Setters call the plays and run the offense. Without a setter, it would become very hard for teams to put the ball away," she said. "Setters are a staple on the court."

Although Bessler hit this milestone, she has one thing on her mind for the rest of the season: winning.

"I like to focus on the next game, prepare for it and do my best to execute," she said.

"Although hitting and breaking records is great and an amazing accomplishment, at the end of the day, what really matters is how the team plays, and if we kept the mission as our goal."

Along with volleyball, Bessler is involved in tennis, National Honor Society, and Fellowship of Christian Athletes. She has been on the gold honor roll every semester of high school and has received academic letters each year. She was awarded academic all-state for volleyball during the 2021-22 season.

A jail cage, with a mannequin which demonstrates the bleakness of the item, is on display at the Saline County Historical Museum's Weidner building.

Jail cage adds creepy component to Saline historical museum

Following the success of the Living History Day at the Saline County Historical Museum, which had many events and stations, food vendors, special displays and performances on Sept. 24, a jail cage, found in the Weidner building, adds a bit of spookiness to the museum as Halloween approaches.

Donated by the Village of Dorchester Fire Department in 1977, the approximately 4.5-foot by 5.5-foot by 5.5-foot strap iron jail was manufactured by the Paul Jail Building Co. in St. Louis, Missouri.

Currently residing in the jail cell and lying on the lone cot is a mannequin which demonstrates the bleakness of this cage.

The museum is now open Wednesdays, Saturdays and Sundays from 1 to 4 p.m. The last Sunday for the museum to be open for the season will be Oct. 30. The museum will continue to be open every Wednesday and Saturday from 1 to 4 p.m., weather permitting.

The next board meeting will be Saturday, Dec. 10 at 1 p.m. Board members are Larry Kaspar, Judy Rada, Nancy Fulton, Carolyn Pavlish, Eric Placek, Maxine Filipi, Phil Weber, Nicole Zurcher, Doris Koll and Connie Strouf. Volunteers are always welcome.

George

(continued from 1) ported her through her business-owning journey, and the flexibility of being able to create her own hours has been helpful for them while raising a family.

She originally opened George + Maeve in Lincoln in 2019, but she said she always hoped to move to Crete.

In September, she was able to make that dream a reality. Once again, timing worked in her favor and a space that would work well for her business opened up in Crete around the same time her lease in Lincoln was ending.

She said the people in Crete have been amazing, and some people in the small towns surrounding Crete come to shop at George + Maeve and support small businesses.

"We've lived in Crete for about eight years now, and I've met more people from Crete in the last month than in all our years living here, just from people coming in and introducing themselves," she said.

Additionally, many customers who used to shop at her Lincoln location have been making the drive to Crete to continue buying from George + Maeve.

"I can't describe how exciting it is to see Lincoln customers driving here to support us because they want to support small businesses no matter where they're at," she said. "People like to support people who are trying to make a name for themselves rather than the big-box stores."

Domangue said something she is looking forward to in the future is hopefully seeing more small businesses come to Crete.

Earlier this year, some people assumed she would be nervous moving her shop to a smaller town because they thought she might get less business.

However, Domangue said people in small towns are wonderful at showing their support.

"I want to get people here. I want to get other businesses here," she said. "I want people to realize that moving your stuff to a small town isn't scary because people really like to support in small towns."

Writers support Raikes for state board of ed

Nebraska's schools will have a thoughtful advocate with Helen Raikes on the Nebraska Board of Education.

Look for her name on the Nov. 8 general election ballot: She's running for the District 5 seat that includes much of southeast Nebraska.

Helen recognizes the urgency of the teacher shortage in Nebraska. She will work to find practical ways to ease it, such as innovative approaches to recruiting and retaining teachers and to certifying those who are ready for the classroom.

She has been steadfastly dedicated to promoting early childhood education that offers young children the foundation for success throughout their lives. When those children are older, she's all for school programs that prepare students for good jobs when they graduate.

Helen is a parent, a grandparent and a retired educator who respects the wisdom of parents and trained educators in assuring that children get a quality education. She also knows that strong schools are at the heart of thriving communities.

She will work to strengthen them through well-considered policies at the state level that support local schools and educators in doing what they do best.

We don't need to worry that Helen will veer off into causes that don't really have much to do with what matters for education in Nebraska. She will help steer a steady course for an excellent school system in which Nebraskans rightfully take pride.

Keaton's list of top five breakfast foods

BY KEATON BURGESS
reporter@sewardindependent.com

When it comes to my favorite set of foods, breakfast foods are the best. You can have them any time of the day, even for lunch or dinner.

For this week's top five, I will be ranking my favorite breakfast foods.

5. Bacon

Keaton Burgess

I don't think bacon is as great as other people think, but I still love it. Bacon is one of the best meats and is by far the best breakfast meat. Although sausage is great, a strip of crispy bacon is better.

4. Breakfast potatoes

If you don't know what breakfast potatoes are, they're the little cubed potatoes that you can get at restaurants and they're amazing. These things are a great side with almost any breakfast food and are much better than hash browns. Next time you go to a restaurant with these, give them a try.

3. Waffles

One of my favorite things about staying at a hotel is getting to go to the continental breakfast and get a waffle from the waffle makers. Although I have a toaster at home, the toaster waffles just don't compare to the ones you make in the actual waffle maker. Throw some syrup on them and you've got a pretty tasty breakfast.

2. Eggs

I think the reason why I like eggs so much is that there are so many different kinds. Scrambled is my go-to, but you can put almost any type of egg in front of me and I won't complain. Also, eggs are fairly healthy.

1. Pancakes

I'm going to say it; pancakes are better than waffles. I know most might not agree with me, but the fluffiness of a pancake will always beat the crunch of a waffle. Put some chocolate chips in them, and I will rarely turn down a pancake.

Do what it takes to make the varsity roster

BY GENE STEINMEYER
For the Crete News

A coach has to make some very difficult decisions. It's not who to start. It's not who plays a lot of minutes.

The toughest decision a coach makes every year is the end of the varsity roster.

I can't tell you the hours I have agonized over that decision. Sometimes, you have great kids with not a lot of talent. Sometimes, you have very talented players with not great attitudes. The problem is there are no dead heats in picking the last of the varsity players.

Some players are winners and others aren't.

I had a very talented freshman at Wilber-Clatonia High School in 1983. She was more talented than some of the older varsity players. Even though she was only a high school freshman, she was a party girl. That didn't mean my players were angels, but I knew they had formed a pact not to drink until the end of the season. As far as I knew, everyone but my talented freshman abided by that pact.

The captains make no secret of their frustration with this freshman. They had tried to calm her down, but she just didn't listen to her teammates. This kid was a great talent for future team successes. I made the tough decision to take her off the varsity roster for the post-season.

I was sure that would teach her a lesson and the next three years would be great years for her. I was very wrong. That talented freshman never played basketball again. I still agonize if my decision had affected her entire high school career.

It's the possibility of those types of consequences that makes it so tough picking the bottom of the varsity roster. I'm still not sure what criteria coaches should use to pick the roster, but I do know one thing about the players. They hardly ever accept the coach's decision.

Players love to come to coaches if they either aren't on the roster or not getting enough playing time with the same question, "What do I need to do to move up?" As a coach, that's a really stupid question. The answer is, "Get better than the people ahead of you."

The players that know their strength and weaknesses are always the ones I like the most. One of my players that was really aware of her talents was the former Doane women's basketball coach, Tracee Uldrich (Fairbanks).

Tracee played at Milligan

High School, not exactly the metropolis of towns. She was a good high school player who I thought could help my team at Doane. I gave her one of my top scholarships and she had a decent freshman year. We were loaded with upperclassman talent.

At the start of her sophomore year, she tore both her ACLs. The next year she started so slow, her dad told her to "read the writing on the wall." Thank goodness Tracee didn't follow his advice.

Tracee didn't have much three-point range and was just an average ball handler. What she did have was a very high basketball IQ. Tracee wasn't very fast, but she could guard a quick point guard because she was smarter than her opponent.

The Milligan athlete didn't have great ball handling skills, but she was always the first one down court in transition. Tracee never scored 1,000 points, but all her points came off great shots. She never forced a shot.

Tracee played four years on the varsity team. It wasn't any one skill that stood out among her teammates. It was simply because she did what Tracee did best. That high basketball IQ kept her in coaching at Doane for 20 years.

It's not a secret formula to success, but not many actually learn what Tracee knew all along.

Don't miss the joy of the journey

BY DAN SAFARIK
St. Mark's United Methodist Church, Lincoln

Some years ago, Robert J. Hastings wrote a classic essay called, "The Station."

In the essay, he reminds us it's not enough to long for some happy ending out in the future, because there's so much joy in the journey right now.

Here's some of what he wrote:

"Tucked away in our subconscious minds is an idyllic vision. We see ourselves on a long, long trip... traveling by passenger train and out the windows we drink in all the passing scenes... but uppermost in our minds is the final destination.

"On a certain day... at a certain hour, we will pull into the station. There will be bands playing and flags waving. And once we get there so many dreams will come true ... so many wishes will be fulfilled. How restlessly we pace the aisles, detesting the minutes for loitering... waiting, waiting for the station.

"When we reach the station that will be it," we cry... then I shall live happily ever after!"

The problem is once we get "it" then "it" disappears. The point of the story is clear: "Relish the moment!" Stop pacing the aisles and counting the miles. Instead climb more mountains, eat more ice cream, go barefoot more often, watch more sunsets, laugh more, cry less.

I need to hear that message so often. Some years ago, I was working every spare minute to finish painting and repairing termite damage on one side of my house. I kept thinking, "If I can just get this one side of the house done - then I'll be happy. What a sense of accomplishment I'll feel!"

Then I reminded myself, "There will always be more projects and repairs."

I knew I needed to enjoy the process and not focus just on the end. Enjoy the work while I do it (if you can enjoy scraping and painting). Paul was little then; when he came home from school I tried not to say, "Daddy's busy, I have to get this done!" Instead I stopped and played a while, it was better for both of us.

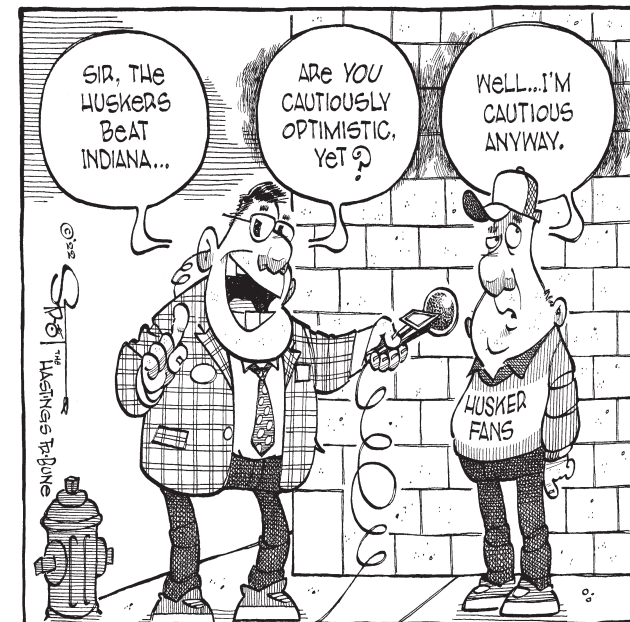

In our society, we're made to feel like a failure if we don't reach the destination we planned on and all our goals and objectives. In that case, Moses was one of the biggest failures in history. You might recall, for 40 years, Moses grappled with cantankerous people. For 40 years, he led his people in the wilderness.

For 40 years, he lived as a nomad struggling to find enough food and water - all for the purpose of getting to the Promised Land.

When they finally were ready to enter the Promised Land, Moses wasn't able to enter it; but was he a failure? Of course not. What about all those years of commitment and obedience? What about that motley crew of renegade people that Moses shaped into the servant people of God? What about the Ten Commandments he gave people and so much more?

We can have our Promised Land now, not down the road. In John 17:3 we find, "And this is eternal life, that they may know you, the only true God, and Jesus Christ whom you have sent." The good news is God is with us in the pilgrimage and we can take great joy in the journey today.

Prayer: Our Lord, help us to not spend so much time longing for "the sweet by-and-by" that we miss the joy of the here and now. Amen

Political letters to the editor

The Crete News welcomes letters to the editor. Letters should be 500 words or less and must be submitted before noon on Friday for publication in the next week's edition, though submission before deadline does not guarantee publication. All letters must be signed and include the name, address and phone number of the author to verify authenticity.

Political letters are accepted if the content of the letter is relevant and newsworthy. Multiple letters about a candidate are not accepted unless the additional letters have new information. Any political letter that references an opposing candidate with allegations, opposing a stance, etc., must be published at least two publication dates prior to the election so the opposing candidate has a chance to respond to any allegations.

Letters may be submitted in person, through U.S. mail, through the online form at www.sewardindependent.com or by email to scinews@sewardindependent.com.

CHS adds new conservation, wildlife learning opportunity

BY KEATON BURGESS
reporter@sewardindependent.com

Crete High School recently added a new after-school program through its Cardinal Community Learning Centers program that allows students to learn more about the conservation and wildlife fields.

Exploring Conservation Careers partners with the Henry Doorly Zoo in Omaha and Aquarium and The Lee G. Simmons Conservation Park and Wildlife Safari. The program is part of the CCLC program, which is a project funded by federal and state grants and is sustained by a network of community partners. The CCLC offers multiple expanded learning opportunities for after-school and summer programs.

Exploring Conservation Careers gives students a two-year program focusing on multiple different career paths such as wildlife conservation, hospital management and nonprofit operations. The program will also provide students with college and career readiness skills such as leadership, business/entrepreneurship, engineering, education, science and graphic design.

Joey Stenson, one of the site coordinators for the CCLC, said the program is great for students because it provides them with a unique opportunity.

Students of Crete High School and part of the Exploring Conservation Careers program got to visit the Wildlife Safari Park on Sept. 21. Pictured are students visiting the grey wolfe exhibit.

“Bringing a slice of these world renown organizations to Crete by embedding them into our afterschool program creates a learning experience for these students that they aren’t likely to forget any time soon,” he said.

Joel Bramhall, CCLC director, believes the program also teaches students about the organizations.

“This partnership is an opportunity for students to experience what it takes to lead, manage and operate a multifaceted organization, especially one that is missioned to deliver the highest quality care to plants and animals,” he said.

The students will also do a final capstone project at the end of each year which will focus on educating visitors about a specific animal or ecosystem.

The club meets three times a week with park staff leading experiential, hands-on learning activities each Wednesday. These activities rotate weeks between virtual and in-person meetings at Crete High School.

The CCLC also provides in-person experiences that advance students learning. In order to do that, the CCLC hired a Ph.D. graduate, London Wolff, with zoo and animal cognition experience to serve as a leader in the expanded activities.

Along with this program, students get to visit the wildlife safari park. On Sept. 24, students received an educational tour of the cheetah and lion breeding centers.

Registration was held in September and 24 students are involved in the program at this time. Students who participate can also receive benefits, such as a family membership to the Omaha Henry Doorly Zoo and Aquarium, a family membership to the Lee G. Simmons Conservation Park and Wildlife Safari, preferred status for onsite jobs and internships, a special guided family tour on select weekends at the zoo and park and a $100 scholarship from the Crete Public Schools Foundation for each semester completed.

Overall, Bramhall feels that the CCLC and Exploring Conservation Careers are great opportunities for students to get unique learning experiences.

“The CCLC understands the importance of engaging recognizable, reputable, and learning-focused partners in order to provide the most impactful learning experience for our students,” he said. “This club not only checks all of those boxes but offers so much more to students and their families.”

Dorchester student among Believers and Achievers

Mariano Perez Armendariz of Dorchester was named a 2022-23 Believer and Achiever by Currency and the Nebraska School Activities Association.

Believers and Achievers is a statewide program designed to give recognition to Nebraska’s future leaders.

Beginning in October and continuing through April, 48 Nebraska high school seniors will be honored as Believers and Achievers.

Of the 48 finalists, eight will receive $500 scholarships from Currency to use for the college or university of their choice at a scholarship banquet on April 23, 2023.

These students will be recognized at NSAA State Championships throughout the 2022-2023 activities year and on a poster sent to all NSAA member schools.

For Nebraska Governor

Carol Blood

Nebraska Governor – Democrat

Scott Zimmerman

Nebraska Governor – Libertarian

Previous experience: I spent 10 years as an elected officer of the Libertarian Party of Nebraska as Chairman of the board and served as the Executive Director of the state affiliate until stepping down to run for Governor. I have 25 years of private sector leadership experience.

Why did you choose to run for this office? I believe that Nebraska deserves better than politics as usual. I have become increasingly frustrated by feeling that we (the people) are not being represented by our current political climate and instead of complaining about it, I decided it was time to do something. Ultimately, I aim to help create a Nebraska that has true representation of all Nebraskans. I see so many opportunities for coalition building that are wasted away by political positioning. The voters in Nebraska deserve a candidate who wants to serve Nebraskans and who will listen to understand their needs.

Choose two areas you'd like to focus on over the next term of office and explain why you think those are important to voters: In my first term, I will focus on Education Reform – The way children learn and grow has changed dynamically over the last 10 years, and our public education sector has failed to meet the needs of our learners. We gave a constitutional responsibility to provide access to education in our state, and the current education system is over extended beyond means to meet the demands of our communities.

Additionally, I will focus on Tax Reduction/Elimination – Our state-funded programs are over-dependent upon property taxes and it's time to evaluate the efficiencies and necessities of programs and projects being funded by public tax dollars.

Jim Pillen

Nebraska Governor – Republican

Previous experience: I am currently serving my second term as a member of the University of Nebraska Board of Regents.

Why did you choose to run for this office? My dad taught us that in life you can either be a giver or a taker, be a giver. This great state has given us so much, and I've done my best to give back. I'm running for governor to keep Nebraska great for all our kids and grandkids. That means fixing our broken property tax system, keeping more of our kids here, strengthening our rural communities, defending agriculture, and preserving the Christian, conservative values that make Nebraska so special.

Choose two areas you'd like to focus on over the next term of office and explain why you think those are important to voters: First, we need to fix our broken property tax system. Our property taxes are way too high and it is having an impact on every single Nebraskan. Transformative tax change is a big undertaking, and it's going to require not only fiscal discipline at every level of government, but also an attitudinal change. We have to bring stakeholders together, from rural and urban areas, with the goal of setting parochial interests aside and doing what's best for the whole state.

Second, we need to protect, train, and keep our kids right here in Nebraska. I'm a believer that we need to equalize our state's education funding so it's done on a per-student basis and not a systems basis. Of our 244 school districts, 158 districts receive no equalization aid, and the four largest districts receive nearly 50% of all state aid. This isn't fair. It's not Nebraska, and it gives up on our kids.

Additionally, we need to train our kids so they are ready to be part of the 21st century workforce. Workforce development and talent retention begin in our K-12 schools. We need to keep radical ideologies out of the classroom and get back to practical and civics-based education in our curriculum. We can keep our kids here by connecting them with businesses while they are still in high school so they can get internships and training to become the next generation of Nebraska's workforce.

Nobody can achieve these changes alone, but together we can protect our kids, provide transformational property tax relief, grow agriculture, and protect our common sense, conservative values.

For Legislature District 32

Tom Brandt

Nebraska Legislature District 32

For State Board of Education Dist. 5

Helen Raikes

State Board of Education District 5

Kirk Penner

State Board of Education District 5

Previous experience: 16 years on Aurora Board of Education, and I was appointed to the Nebraska State Board of Education, District 5, by Governor Ricketts in December of 2021. I am the only conservative Republican on the current board and in this race. I am unanimously endorsed by both the Nebraska Republican Party and Seward County Republican Party. My values are the values of the constituents in this district.

Why did you choose to run for this office? I want to bring local control back to our school districts and move the power away from the state. Our local schools have a better understanding about what should be taught in their districts. As I sat on the Aurora School Board for 16 years, I began to understand that we have lost local control of our schools. We are told what to do by either the legislature or Nebraska Department of Education. Yes, we need some parameters to follow and a way to maintain our accreditation, however, they are getting involved in aspects of our education that we can control and develop better at a local level with our parents, school boards, administration and teaching staff.

In addition, very few schools in District 5 are getting state aid, so when we are mandated to start a program, we have to tax our farmers and homeowners in order to meet the requirement. For example, if the state and federal governments would fund special education like they originally promised, our local tax levies would be much lower. Recently, in addition to unfunded mandates, the State Board of Education is being influenced by outside entities, such as Planned Parenthood and the Women's Health Fund of Omaha. So not only is our education being dictated from Lincoln and Washington, D.C., but now it is increasingly being influenced by those with political agendas that do not match the values of a majority of Nebraskans.

We need to put more of an emphasis on Career and Technical Education in our middle and high schools. Career and Technical Education includes the trades and skilled workforce. Our nurses, welders, construction, CNC operators, etc. Schools have a captive audience of the future employees and small business owners. We need to encourage interest in these fields while they are in middle school. For too long the emphasis after high school has been primarily four-year institutions. Schools are now being more proactive in introducing our students to the jobs and careers that Nebraska needs now and in the future. For me, this is workforce development and the funding of these programs currently rests on the farmers, ranchers and homeowners. I believe this funding should come from the legislature. I am currently working on legislation with major business and agriculture organizations and have support from many current state senators and candidates. Together we will be proposing a bill in the next legislative session, with its first draft ready in November, to fund Career and Technical Education. This funding will be directed by the legislature and will benefit all school districts and our community colleges.

The teacher shortage is affecting every school district in the state. There are many ways to address this shortage. One area of change, that could be worked out in a short period of time, would be centered around the Praxis 2 test. The Praxis 2, is the test taken on the subject area the teacher has chosen for an endorsement. If you are going to teach math, you have to pass the Praxis 2 test in math before you get your certificate. The idea is once a teacher has been employed for a year or two, since they have already learned how to teach by spending four years in college and have one or two years in the classroom, let them take the Praxis 2 test in a different subject area instead of having to go back to school for two or three years and pay tuition. If the teacher passes, let them teach that subject as well. This will speed up the process and give every school district in the state flexibility in hiring. That idea was brought to me by an area superintendent and every superintendent I have spoken to about the idea since is on board. We also need to create interest in teaching at an earlier age. Our Career and Technical Education program, that I spoke about earlier, has an Education and Training pathway that introduces our students to the education profession and will ultimately increase the numbers of students studying education in college.

For Saline County Attorney

David C. Solheim

Saline County Attorney – Republican

Previous experience: Hancock County Attorney (Iowa) 2012-2017.

Why did you choose to run for this office? I believe the county attorney's primary responsibility is to hold people who commit crimes accountable and to help victims seek justice. To accomplish these goals, prosecutors must build a strong working relationship with law enforcement. Saline County is fortunate to have excellent police officers and deputies. They have a difficult job, and I support them 100%. Working together, we can build stronger cases, be more aggressive at trial, and achieve better outcomes for victims and the citizens of Saline County.

Choose two areas you'd like to focus on over the next term of office and explain why you think those are important to voters.

I will be aggressive in prosecuting violent crimes, the production and distribution of hard drugs, like methamphetamine, and crimes against children. I view this as a basic part of the job. Two additional areas of focus will be:

Internet crimes. Scammers and sexual predators increasingly use the internet to find and connect with their victims. We now have the technology to catch some of these criminals. I intend to use it.

Cases involving children. Kids are unique, both as victims of abuse, and as offenders themselves, and the system is not always well equipped to handle them. Investing time and

For Saline County Assessor

Brandi R. Kelly

Saline County Assessor – Democrat

For Saline County Sheriff

Alan J. Moore

Saline County Sheriff – Democrat

For Saline County Treasurer

Debbie Spanyers

Saline County Treasurer – Democrat

Previous experience: I was hired as an office clerk for the Saline County Treasurer's Office in August of 1991 and remained in that position until early 1996, at which time, I was appointed to the position of Deputy Treasurer and served in that capacity until December 1998. In 1998, I ran for the office of Saline County Treasurer. After being elected, I was sworn in and began serving as the Saline County Treasurer in January of 1999 and have continued serving as Treasurer to the present date.

Choose two areas you'd like to focus on over the next term of office and explain why you think those are important to voters: By Nebraska State Statute, a license plate design change is required every six years, with the year 2023 marking the beginning of a new six-year period. The rotation from the old license plate design to the new plate design is a very involved and time-consuming process for the Treasurer's Office. The office was advised that our initial license plate order will consist of roughly 39,000 plates. Our office will do our best, to reserve license plates in the new design for some plate classes of currently registered vehicles. We understand however, that the Department of Corrections has been experiencing some delays in receiving the license plate sheeting, due to the current supply chain issues. With the new year rapidly approaching and with time being of the essence, I am trying to remain hopeful that the entire process will go smoothly, not only for the Treasurer's Office, but especially for the taxpayers of this county.

For Crete Mayor

David A. Bauer

Crete Mayor

Previous experience: I have been on the city council for several years and the last 3 1/2 years as Mayor.

Why did you choose to run for this office? I am running for mayor because I care deeply what happens now and in the future for Crete. I was born here, raised three boys here and I plan to continue living here the rest of my life. I have been involved in the community for many years and I am very passionate about decisions and changes that have been made, and will be made in the future, that will affect our community. I am the type of person that likes to be part of the solution to a problem not the type of person that complains about what others should be doing to fix it. I would like to think that I have had a positive impact on many of the improvements to Crete. As a property and business owner, I do understand how the things that we do in our community affect our taxes. I think that it is important for the mayor to be available to the community. My door is always open and I think this has helped with issues that have come up in the past. I want to be a part in making sure Crete is a great place to live now and for many generations to come.

Choose two areas that you would like to focus on over the next term of office and explain why you think they are important to voters: The two areas that I would like to focus on for the next four years as Mayor are housing and relationship building. Some people may think that getting more businesses to come to town is the most important issue to deal with, but studies have shown that you do not want to work on attracting new businesses if you do not have housing for the employees to live. Crete has been very fortunate to have the growth in new home building we have had compared to other towns of our size. We will look to expand on affordable housing in the future as well. This will help to get people into homes that never thought they could afford one. I am currently working with a group that will survey our town to see what the city needs to continue our growth. They will talk to city officials, bankers, industries, schools and the citizens of Crete so we can better meet everyone's needs. I am also working with two different developers that want to come to town and build 5-10 homes per year. The more housing development we have the more interest in business growth we will have.

The other area I feel is very important is building relationships with surrounding towns, schools, businesses, county commissioners and community members. Having a good relationship with surrounding communities is important because we need to be able to ask for help from them in a time of need. I would like to think they could count on us as well.

Building a strong relationship with Doane University and Crete Schools is important. They each have facilities and resources that we can use to help build programs and we are able to help them as well. Our current relationship is very good!

Working well with current businesses in town will help in growing new business development. In the past, and currently, we have worked with a program called DTR (Downtown Revitalization) that is helping to improve building facades, which will also help to attract new businesses. We also have LB840 money to help new businesses get started.

Building on the relationship we have with the County Commissioners and county office can be very helpful to our community. We are very excited about a few things that we are currently working on, one of them is the Meals on Wheels program. We are working with Elder Care to get this program back in Crete to help better meet the needs of the elderly.

Finally, a relationship between the mayor and the entire community is essential in building a united town. I have an open door to ALL members of the community, and I welcome all comments, questions and concerns. If I am unable to help, we have many resources put in place that are there to assist you.

Ryan J. Hinz

Crete Mayor

Previous experience: I have served four years on the Crete City Council representing Ward 2.

Why did you choose to run for this office? I am running for mayor because I recognize the untapped potential that Crete has for growth and prosperity in the years to come. As a councilman and community member, I have worked to achieve investment and equity in our community such as the expansion of Northward Park, improvement of critical infrastructure in underserved areas of town, continued Saline County Area Transit (SCAT) funding, increased business opportunities, and expanded access to basic necessities such as food and housing. Crete's great schools, parks and recreation, accessible location, welcoming environment, diverse community, and many job opportunities make our community an attractive place to live. However, I believe the way we do business as a city is holding us back. As mayor, I will work on behalf of the entire community to create and carry out plans that leverage our strengths to move us forward through the next decade and beyond.

Choose two areas you'd like to focus on over the next term of office and explain why you think those are important to voters: If elected, one area I would focus on is developing and carrying out strategic plans to address two of our greatest needs: infrastructure and economic development. Many of you have told me we need to improve our streets and sidewalks and develop trails that connect the diverse areas of our city. At the same time, you have told me we need to address the way in which we attract and grow businesses and amenities in the community so that Crete can grow in a sustainable manner. However, we don't have a plan and we don't have much public input in these processes.

As mayor, I would work to bring people together to develop these plans including members of the community, experts in the field, and elected officials. I would like to hold town halls to inform you of the problem, explain our options, and discuss how we move forward. If Crete wants to grow, retain and attract young people, and be prepared to weather whatever the future holds, we need to evolve. We need you, the public, to be more involved in helping solve problems such as funding road improvements, deciding what improvements to make to our parks, and what businesses and amenities to bring to Crete. We also need to hire quality professionals to administer city departments such as parks and recreation and economic development so we can provide first-rate programming and services throughout the community.

Another area of focus for me would be to continue to build a welcoming community for all who choose to call Crete home. Anyone can tell you, Crete has changed over the past few decades.

There's no denying it. In fact, the Census Bureau estimates that over 43% of those 5 years and older in Crete speak a language other than English at home. At the same time, we are grappling with issues often associated with larger cities such as homelessness, food insecurity, and lack of healthcare access. Over 20% of our community lives below the poverty line. That number climbs to almost 27% for those 18 years old and under. For Crete to thrive, we need leaders who recognize the new realities this city faces and collaborate with diverse partners to address these concerns. We have to come together to make all who choose to call Crete home feel safe, healthy, and welcome so we can grow and prosper together. Again, this calls for changing how we do business and amending the priorities we set with regard to housing, public transportation, economic development, etc.

This great city is full of potential just waiting to be unleashed. I want to help us capitalize on this potential and make Crete the envy of other cities in Nebraska and beyond.

Obituaries

Eleanor R. Henning
May 18, 1939 – Sept. 28, 2022

Eleanor Ruth (Duba) Henning, 83, of Crete went to her heavenly home Sept. 28, 2022.

She was born in Western on May 18, 1939, to Henry and Frances (Maas) Duba. She became a child of God through the Sacrament of Holy Baptism on Feb. 15, 1953, at Grace Methodist Church in Crete. She graduated from Crete High School in 1957. Eleanor was confirmed June 1, 1958, at Bethlehem Lutheran Church. She married the love of her life, Loren, on June 22, 1958, at Bethlehem Lutheran Church. They were blessed with three boys, Kevin, Kent and Keith.

Eleanor worked at Fairmont Creamery, then stayed home to raise her family.

As the boys got older, she went to work at Crete Elementary School as a secretary for 25 years and retired in 1999. Eleanor loved her church and held several serving positions. Eleanor's greatest love was spending time with her family, especially her grandchildren and great-grandchildren. She enjoyed traveling with Loren, doing crafts, working outside with her flowers and volunteering.

Eleanor is survived by her loving husband of 64 years, Loren Henning; sons and daughters-in-law, Kevin and Liz of Crete, Kent and Lisa of Lincoln, and Keith and Lisa Ann of Lincoln; grandchildren, Keenan and Becky Henning of Lincoln, Kieran Henning and special friend, Lindsey and girls of Crete, Makaela and Derek Johnson of Hickman, Brendon Henning of Lincoln, Drew and BreAnna Henning of Lincoln and Michelle Henning of Lincoln; great-grandchildren, Kamden, Karsyn and Kyndal Henning, Kiptyn and Kaelyn Johnson and Carter Henning; sister and brother-in-law, Doris and Larry Amen; sister, Susan Wiley; sister-in-law, Darleen Dittmer; brother-in-law, Arnold Henning; and brother-in-law and sister-in-law, Eldon and Carol Henning, along with many nieces, nephews and friends.

She was preceded in death by her parents; stepfather, Joe Drevo; brothers, Merlyn Duba and Harvey Duba; sisters-in-law, LeAnn Henning, Gloria, Maxine Duba and Sharon Duba; brother-in-law, Elmer Dittmer; nephew and niece, Tim and Denise Henning; stepbrother, Kenneth Drevo; and stepsister, Betty (Buck) Drevo.

A funeral service was Oct. 6 at Bethlehem Lutheran Church in Crete, with burial in Riverside Cemetery in Crete. In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions are suggested to Bethlehem Lutheran Church. Condolences may be left for the family online at www.kunclfh.com.

Cardinal softball falls short in districts

BY KEATON BURGESS
reporter@sewardindependent.com

The Crete softball team competed in district play against second-seeded Blair on Oct. 7 and lost both games 10-0 and 5-2.

In the first game, Blair dominated the Cardinals on both sides, not allowing a hit from Crete and ending the game in four innings.

Mack Steuer struck out five in the circle.

The second game was closer, but the Cardinals couldn't muster enough offense.

Blair started off hot, scoring a run in the first inning and two in the second to lead 3-0. The Cardinals finally got on the board in the fourth inning with two runs. Blair put the game away in the seventh inning, scoring two runs and holding Crete scoreless.

Caitlynn Boyle, Marli Stones, Ashaya Steele and Steuer each had a hit, and Stones and Steele each scored a run. Steuer struck out five again.

"I am proud of the season we had and the determination and hard work the girls put in throughout the season," Coach KiLee Griffin said. "We will miss our two seniors - Mack Steuer and Marli Stones. They provided leadership for us this year and made it a year to remember."

Marli Stones of Crete watches the ball fly high past her against Lincoln Northwest on Oct. 3.

Crete ended the season 16-13.

CHS competed in the B-6 subdistrict tournament on Oct. 3 in Seward and won its first game against Lincoln Northwest 13-0, but fell in the championship game to Seward 5-3.

In its game against Northwest, the Cardinals got the bats going early scoring six runs in the bottom of the first inning and five runs in the second. Crete ended the game early via the run rule after scoring two in the third.

Boyle, Steele, Jordan Parde and Lesli Kratochvil each had two hits, and Steele and Parde each had three RBIs. Steele also hit a home run.

The Cardinals were brought back down to earth against Seward as they were held scoreless through four innings.

The Bluejays held a 5-0 lead after the fourth inning.

Crete finally got on the board in the fifth inning with two runs. The Cardinals also drove in a run in the sixth but were held scoreless in the seventh inning to fall short.

Boyle, Lauren Maly,

Crete junior catcher Ashaya Steele looks to her dugout for the pitch call Friday at the Blair Youth Sports Complex.

Steele, Kacey Dunaway and Kratochvil each had a hit and Steuer, Dunaway and Kratochvil each scored a run. Steuer did her part on the mound, striking out seven.

Cards fall in Thursday game

BY KEATON BURGESS
reporter@sewardindependent.com

The Crete football team continues to slide as they lost its third straight game to Beatrice 42-14 on Oct. 6.

The Orangemen got off to a fast start, holding Crete to a three-and-out and driving down the field to score on a 6-yard pass.

The Cardinals looked like they finally found some momentum after two first-down passes to Carson Kotil, but lost it all after Tadd TeBrink threw an interception that was returned for the Orangemen touchdown.

With 8:05 left in the second quarter, Ceasar Linares punched it in from two yards out to bring the game within seven.

Seven was the smallest lead of the day as Beatrice scored 28 unanswered points in the second and third quarters to give the Orangemen a comfortable 42-7 lead.

Crete finally managed to get back on the board with a one-yard run from TeBrink late in the fourth quarter to end the game 42-14.

TeBrink led the CHS offense, rushing for 99 yards on 15 carries and completing six passes for 71 yards. Brayton Zeibig tallied up 11.5 tackles on the night, including 10 solos.

Coach Mark Newmyer thought the Cardinals did some good things.

"I thought we were able to move the ball fairly well, and our inside zone got us some yards," he said. "We also did some good things in the passing game."

Newmyer said Crete's

Ceaser Linares of Crete drags two Beatrice defenders with him as he scores Crete's first touchdown of the night on Oct. 6.

biggest problem Thursday night was consistency.

"We let them convert on some third and long situations, and we didn't convert on third and short when we needed to," he said. "Beatrice also had some really physical runners that we struggled to bring down."

Crete (2-5) will travel to take on Norris on Friday, Oct. 14, at 7 p.m. Norris (2-4) lost to Gross Catholic 42-14 on Oct. 7.

Norris will be the Cardinals' final regular season game after Buena Vista forfeited its season. Newmyer said the Cardinals are going to focus on more consistency heading into the game.

"We want to be better on both sides of the ball," he said. "We want to be at third and short on offense and hold them to third and long."

Girls' golf ends season at districts

BY KEATON BURGESS
reporter@sewardindependent.com

The Crete girls' golf team wrapped up its season on Oct. 4 at the B3 district tournament at Jackrabbit Run Golf Course in Grand Island.

Melissa Castillo was the lone Cardinal golfer and beat her conference score by three strokes, shooting a 145. "She improved three strokes while playing the last four or five holes in the rain," Coach Julie Foster said.

Foster said she's happy with how the team did this fall.

"I'm really proud of the growth the whole team has shown this season," she said. "I look forward to seeing them back out on the golf course next year."

Tiger women sixth

Doane women's golf competed in the women's Nebraska Intercollegiate meet for the first time this year and finished sixth in the 36-hole event. Emma Sheaffer (SO/Greeley, Colo.) finished tied for 12th with a 174 (87-87).

The Tigers will close out the fall campaign on Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 17-18, when they compete in the Bethany Invite at Turkey Creek Golf Course.

Crete tennis ready for state tourney run

BY STEPHANIE CROSTON
croston@sewardindependent.com

Crete's tennis players split a pair of duals in the final week of the regular season. The Cardinals lost to Elkhorn North 6-3 Oct. 3 and defeated York 5-4 Oct. 6. Coach Todd Sandberg said the Cardinals played well against Elkhorn North, which has a good team, especially in doubles.

The win over York came down to the last two matches, Sandberg said.

"They have an outstanding program," he said. "It was a good way to end the season."

Aidan McDowell won both his matches at No. 1 singles, defeating Eli Shada of Elkhorn North 8-3 and Ethan Phinney of York 8-2.

Isaac Penate, playing No. 2 singles, beat Ryan Mensch of Elkhorn North 9-7 and lost to Andrew Von Gomple of York 8-5.

Crete's No. 1 doubles team of Brock Heuskinkvelt and Trace Egge lost to the team of Ian Armbrust and Sheamus Sinnott of Elkhorn North 8-4 and beat Trey Harms and Collin Kotschwar of York 8-6.

Mason Crumbliss and Lane Wendelin lost to Luke Butler and Jacob Petrick of Elkhorn North 8-1 and to Jaxson Alexander and Charles Van Gomple of York 8-6.

The Cardinals were to play Nebraska City Oct. 10 and compete at state Thursday and Friday, Oct. 13 and 14, at Woods Tennis Center in Lincoln. Matches start at 9 a.m. both days.

Cardinals run best times at conference meet

BY KEATON BURGESS
reporter@sewardindependent.com

The Crete cross country team competed at the Central Conference meet on Oct. 6 and had almost every runner post faster times than in previous weeks. Jordy Alvarez paced the Cardinal boys placing 27th in 18:36.23. Garrett Dittmer was close behind finishing 31st in 18:48.69. The boys' team placed eighth out of nine teams.

On the girls' side, Camille Andelt led the Cardinals placing 16th in 21:42.26, a personal best time. Colette Andelt finished 21st in 22:00.32, another best time. The girls' team placed eighth out of nine.

Coach Stan Croft said the conditions were excellent for the meet.

"It was a fast course and the weather was great," he said. "Those conditions definitely helped us run fast."

Crete will compete next at the B4 district meet at Overton Golf Club in Overton on Thursday, Oct. 13. Crete will run against Beatrice, Hastings, Norris, Grand Island Northwest and York.

Croft said the team is hoping to send a few to state.

"Hopefully we can have a person or two make their way into the top 15," he said. "If we run like we did at conference, we should get some people in."

DU wins on homecoming

Doane University football rallied in the second half Oct. 8 to defeat Dakota Wesleyan, 16-13, in front of the Crete Homecoming crowd. The win moved the Tigers to 3-2 on the season.

Dakota Wesleyan struck first with an 11-yard touchdown run by Jamin Arend in the opening quarter. DWU added to its lead with an 18-yard field goal midway through the second quarter. DWU was driving late in the opening half only to see Ty Barbazon (SR/Ocala, Fla.) break through the line and record a sack to end the threat.

Doane took the opening drive of the third quarter down the field, using 11 plays to put their first points on the board as Kelen Meyer (FR/Ord) converted a 45-yard field goal. DWU responded with a 13-play drive that was capped by a 34-yard field goal.

On the ensuing kickoff, Jeremiah Payne (JR/Dallas, Texas) received the ball at the nine-yard line and raced through the DWU coverage for a 91-yard touchdown to pull the Tigers within three points, 13-10.

Dakota Wesleyan took its next possession into Doane territory, thanks to a 21-yard pass play, however, Cade Wiseman (SO/Sutton) came from behind to rip the ball out of the receiver's hands and Cooper Bates (SR/Wilber) dove on the ball for a turnover.

Doane moved the ball near mid-field as the teams moved to the fourth quarter of play. Adam Wasserman (SR/Fairbury) recorded five consecutive runs which set the Tigers up for their first pass attempt of the drive, a 52-yard strike from Cruz Kirwan (FR/San Antonio, Texas) to Joaquin Gutierrez (FR/San Antonio, Texas) to take the lead. The extra point was missed, leaving Doane up by three points.

DWU took its next drive into Doane territory but back-to-back tackles by Jackson Seward (JR/St. Paul) stopped the threat as the drive ended on a fourth down stop. Late in the game, (continued on 11)

The Crete volleyball team traveled to Lakeview on Oct. 7 and lost 25-18, 25-18, 25-12.

Sierra Crist led the team in kills with 12. Marin Rasgorshak led in digs with nine and blocks with three. Reagan Bessler had two aces and 22 assists.

Coach Makayla Westphal gave credit to Lakeview.

"Lakeview executed incredibly well on their end and they were able to get us out of system," she said. "We didn't serve and pass to our standards."

Westphal said the team competed well, but didn't execute.

"We got down early in the first set, but stayed patient and were able to tie things up at 9," she said. "Unfortunately we just made too many errors. We will most likely see them again in Conference, but have a few tough matches before we get there."

Crete (14-12) was scheduled to play in a triangular at Milford on Oct. 11 with Seward, and play in the Central Conference tournament. The tournament starts on Thursday, Oct. 13, at Columbus Lakeview and continues on Saturday, Oct. 15 at 10 a.m.

Tigers run in Iowa

Doane cross country traveled to Sioux Center, Iowa, to participate in the Dordt Defenders Holiday Inn Express Classic. The Tiger men finished fourth overall with the women placing 10th overall.

In men's action, Sisey Tirop (FR/Eldoret, Kenya) was the top Tiger finisher in 10th with a time of 24:56, the first sub-25 minute time for a Tiger runner since 2006.

Luke Bonifas (FR/Hastings) recorded a time of 26:08 to place 30th and Thomas Oliver (JR/Lincoln) was close behind, finishing 32nd with a time of 26:14. Duncan Blankenship (JR/Rome, Ga.) finished in 42nd place with a time of 26:29. Jakob Tadlock (SO/La Vista) rounded out the Top 5 Tigers with a time of 26:36 to place 47th.

Third-ranked Dordt was the team champion with a score of 27 points, posting three finishers in the Top 5 of the overall standings. Grand View, ranked No. 13, finished second with 60 points. Concordia edged Doane, 126 to 132.

Doane's women were led by Annika Pingel (SR/Pella, Iowa) with a time of 19:22 as she placed 22nd. Jaden Hilkemann (SR/Lincoln) finished in 38th with a time of 19:56. Rachel Walters (SR/Gretna) crossed the finish line in 59th place with a time of 20:29.

Taking 67th place for the Tigers was Calla Wittland (FR/Bennington) as she was clocked with a time of 20:40. Reagan Shoemaker (FR/Hastings) rounded out the scoring with a time of 21:37 to place 102nd.

Dordt, ranked No. 9, won the event with 49 points and No. 22 Concordia finished second with 80 points, edging out Northwestern which finished with 88 points.

Doane finished with 243 points, two behind Kansas Wesleyan and one ahead of Saint Mary (Neb.).

The Tigers return to action on Saturday, Oct. 22, when they compete in the Midwest Showdown in Ankeny, Iowa.

DU football

(continued from 10) DWU picked up its first turnover, a diving interception by Jacob Zamora with 3:30 to go.

Dakota Wesleyan used two big pass plays on its next drive to get to the red zone, sitting at the 7-yard line for first-and-goal. The Doane defense forced a third down play that resulted in an incomplete pass, but a flag was thrown for interference and gave DWU first down at the 2-yard line.

Lined up in their Wildcat offensive set, the center snap was wide and rolled away from Arend. He recovered the ball near the 16-yard line where Seward wrapped him up and stripped the football away. The loose ball was recovered by Garrett Bean (JR/Eaton, Colo.) with 29 seconds left in the game and Doane's offense went into the victory formation to secure the win.

Dakota Wesleyan outgained Doane offensively, 417 yards to 193 yards, however they would turn over the ball on three fumbles and once on a fourth down stop.

Wasserman led Doane's rushing attack with 73 yards on 12 carries. He had a 46-yard run for his top rushing attempt on the day.

Doane played three quarterbacks on the day. Karsen Reimers (SO/St. Paul) started and was 7-of-8 passing for 13 yards with Mike Pulliam finishing 1-of-5 for four yards. Kirwan was 5-of-11 for 92 yards as the Tigers finished the game 13-of-24 for 109 yards.

Payne and Wasserman led the team with three receptions apiece, Payne posting 33 yards. Gutierrez had two catches for 59 yards. Eight receivers had a catch in the game.

Defensively, Ryan Michael (SR/Brea, Calif.), Barbazon, and Bates were in on seven tackles apiece. Barbazon and Seth Hagan (JR/Brighton, Colo.) recorded Doane's two sacks in the game.

Bates, Bean, and Donte Wiggins III (SR/Colorado Springs, Colo.) each collected a fumble recovery, while Wiseman and Seward each forced a fumble. Wiseman had three pass break-ups in the game.

Doane will travel to Hastings on Saturday, Oct. 15, to take on the Broncos at 1 p.m.

AAA finds annual cost of new car ownership crosses $10K

New car buyers likely care more now than ever about the overall cost of a new vehicle, and that goes beyond just the sticker price.

Since things have become more expensive this year, consumers are paying closer attention to the cost of things like fuel, maintenance and insurance.

“High gas prices are not only changing Americans’ driving habits – they’re also changing the way Americans are thinking about future car purchases,” said Brian Ortner, spokesman for AAA Nebraska. “Recent research tells us that one of the main factors fueling an increased interest in electric vehicles is the potential to save on fuel costs, which adds a little bit more wiggle room in the budget when considering the total cost of vehicle ownership.”

According to this year’s AAA Your Driving Costs report:

- The average yearly cost to own and operate a new vehicle in 2022 is $10,728, or $894 per month.

- That’s an 11% increase from 2021, when the average yearly cost was $9,666 or $805.50 per month.

New vehicle ownership prices have increased 11% since last year, according to a study by AAA.

- In Nebraska, the average yearly cost to own and operate a new vehicle in 2022 is $10,921 – 2% higher than the national average.

- Fuel prices are the most significant factor pushing this year’s average annual price tag.

AAA evaluated nine categories of vehicles – consisting of 45 models – to determine a new vehicle’s average annual operating and ownership costs. AAA selects top-selling, mid-price models and compares them across six categories: fuel, maintenance/repair/tire costs, insurance, license/registration/taxes, depreciation and finance charges.

The study assumes a five-year ownership period, with the vehicle being driven 15,000 miles annually.

Calculating fuel costs

Gas prices saw a dramatic climb in the first half of 2022, raising the cost of vehicle ownership since the Your Driving Costs evaluation was completed. Fuel costs were projected based on a weighted average of the first five months of 2022. During that time, fuel prices averaged 17.99 cents per mile or $3.999 per gallon.

Electric vehicles vs. gas-powered vehicles

An electric vehicle owner will spend about 4 cents per mile to charge their vehicle at home, while the owner of a gas-powered vehicle will spend an average of 18.4 cents per mile to fuel up. Assuming both drive 15,000 miles/year, it would cost approximately $2,700/year to fuel the gas-powered vehicle and $600/year to charge the electric vehicle, a difference of $2,100 annually.

Beyond fuel savings, electric vehicles have the lowest maintenance, repair and tire costs. This is because gas-powered vehicles require additional maintenance such as oil changes, air filter replacements and inspection of mechanical components not present in electric vehicles.

Additionally, electric vehicles have the lowest fees because of federal and state rebates offered to buyers of new electric vehicles.

Online calculator

New this year, AAA launched an online Your Driving Costs Calculator. This tool enables consumers to determine the overall driving costs of a specific vehicle. When visiting the site, consumers can select their desired state, annual mileage and driving ratio that represents their normal driving habits, and vehicle year/make/model/trim.

Data is available for new and used vehicles (five model years back), and consumers may customize the results based on location, fuel price, and other personal driving tendencies.

Before purchasing

drivers take the following steps before making a new vehicle purchase:

- Start early. Because of limited inventory, consumers may have fewer choices regarding a specific vehicle model. They may have to wait for delivery or pre-order the vehicle.

- Obtain pre-approval from their financial institution before discussing finance rates with the car dealer. By getting pre-approval, they will have a threshold of the best lending rate they’ll pay. Buyers can use their pre-approval to negotiate if the dealer offers a higher rate.

- Create a budget and factor in the different elements of ownership – not just monthly payments. Other factors to consider when making the budget include insurance, gas, routine maintenance, etc.

- Call your insurance agent to compare potential rates for your top choices and how they compare to your current vehicle.

- Typically, three negotiations occur when purchasing a vehicle – the cost of the car, the finance rate and the trade-in value. Keep each transaction/negotiation separate from the other.

Ricketts signs proclamation to help protect motorists

Nebraska Gov. Pete Ricketts signed a proclamation declaring Oct. 15 “Slow Down, Move Over” day in Nebraska.

AAA - The Auto Club Group worked with community partners and the governor’s office on a proclamation to promote the protection of all motorists on the roadside in order to strengthen the existing “Slow Down, Move Over” law, Statute 61-6,378.

“While all 50 states have a Slow Down,

Move Over law, nearly a quarter of motorists don’t know these laws exist or how they vary from state to state,” said Brian Ortner with AAA Nebraska. “This proclamation helps bring awareness that motorists can help those outside disabled vehicles stay safe by moving over and slowing down for every vehicle that is on the roadside.”

Nebraska’s current law protects roadside workers and their vehicles including first responders, tow trucks and utility vehicles, but does not yet cover municipal vehicles, road maintenance or disabled vehicles.

Research shows that nearly 350 people are struck and killed every year while outside a disabled vehicle on the roadside in the United States from 2016-2020.
