Home destroyed

The home of the Lee Ross family of Sunnyland was completely wiped out by fire on the night of December 18. A smoke detector woke the family up enabling them to escape the burning house just in time. The Fox Fire Department was called shortly before midnight but was unable to save the house due to the fire being too far advanced when they arrived on the scene.

Anyone having donations for the Ross Family can contact Linda Berry at 591-6238 or leave donations at the sheriff's office or the Krispy House.

Plans for forming a fire department for Sunnyland are underway. A committee of seven is working to raise money and donations are welcome. Over $1,000 has been raised and land has been donated next to the Sunnyland Church. As soon as the weather warms up building will begin, according to Willie Callahan, secretary of the fire department committee. Service from the proposed fire department will overlap into the Fox and Richwoods communities to help make the fire fighting force stronger for the whole area.

SC Sheriff's Dept. leads state in marijuana eradication

A report released by the Arkansas State Police Criminal Investigation Division lists the Stone County Sheriff's Department as having led the state for 1985 in terms of the largest number of marijuana plants confiscated.

According to Lieutenant Earl Rife, Commander of CID Company E in Harrison, the ASP-CID company of which Stone County is a member, the state police keep monthly records on marijuana eradication. These records include the number of plots, number of plants, estimated value of the plants, weapons seized, number of arrests, ASP personnel hours worked, and hours worked by other law enforcement agencies.

Lt. Rife said that the list of monthly figures are compiled by the state police using information taken from other law enforcement agencies as well as the state police records. He said that the estimated value statistics are compiled by using $1,000 per plant confiscated. The lieutenant also noted that this system gives an estimated wholesale value and not "street value."

Lt. Rife said that most of the marijuana growers have gone to smaller patches than in the past, and that the police are finding fewer and fewer large plantings. None the less, the Stone County Sheriff's Department, working with other police agencies, found two large patches of marijuana last summer. According to Stone County Sheriff Dave Barnum, these two large patches were mainly responsible for Stone County being so far ahead of all the other counties in terms of number of plants confiscated.

Sheriff Barnum said that the reason the growers are changing to smaller patches is that this makes the illegal plant harder to find. He said that the two large patches discovered this summer by his department were along the banks of the White River and one patch which had previously been the site of a large "bust" near Pleasant Grove.

The report also lists types of hazards encountered by the lawmen and the type of weapons confiscated. The Stone County Sheriff's Department confiscated one 30.30 rifle. The hours worked by other agencies reflect the hours worked by local law enforcement officers other than the state police. The report lists the Stone County Sheriff's Department as having worked 552 hours in the marijuana eradication effort.

Burglars hit businesses in town Monday a.m.

A number of breakins and attempted breakins occurred early Monday morning, December 16, in Mountain View. The Good Old Days Restaurant suffered the largest loss with approximately $500 taken by the burglars.

The Cooperative Extension Service Office was also broken into, and around $60 or $70 was taken. The thieves also attempted to break into Winingham Auto Parts, Stanley's Thriftway, Mountain View Abstract and Title Co., The Stone County Health Office, the Social Services office, Kentucky Fried Chicken and Shelter Insurance. These attempts were unsuccessful.

The Stone County Sheriff's Department has offered a $100 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the guilty parties.

New hot check procedure

A new procedure for dealing with one of today's most rampant crimes - hot checks, was established by the Special Legislative Session of 1985. The Hot Check Fee Act was passed to better assist merchants who are victims of dishonored checks.

Merchants are no longer required to send certified letters to hot check writers. Instead, merchants are to take dishonored checks to the Municipal Judge's Office and sign an affidavit. The check and the affidavit will be sent to the Prosecuting Attorney's Office in Batesville where they will write the person, demanding full payment plus a $10 service charge for the merchant and the prosecution fee within 10 days. If the check writer does not comply with this demand, charges will be filed and warrants issued and tendered to the Sheriff's Office for processing. If charges are filed, the person writing the check will also be required to pay, upon conviction, court costs and whatever fine the court imposes.

Municipal Judge, John Dan Kemp, stated, "Hopefully this will make the procedure more efficient for the merchant." It will take about the same amount of time to obtain restitution for hot checks but most of the checks are usually paid off before they come to court, according to Judge Kemp.

If a check is dishonored by the bank after being tendered to a merchant as payment in full for goods or services received at the time the check was issued, it falls within the Hot Check Law. The 1985 Legislature also passed a "Warm Check" law which may be applicable in some cases. The Prosecuting Attorney's Office will need to know all the facts concerning a dishonored check when it is turned over for collection. Should a merchant allow a person to work out a payment schedule for payment of a hot check, he may very well be taking it outside the Hot Check Law and causing it to be a debt, which is not prosecutable. The safe procedure is to contact the Municipal Judge's Office or the Prosecuting Attorney's Office before making this sort of arrangement if you feel that person may fail to comply with his agreement.

An informational brochure on hot checks is available from the Mountain View Municipal Clerk, the Circuit Court Clerk, the Stone County Sheriff's Office and the Prosecuting Attorney's Office in Batesville. The Prosecuting Attorney's Office also maintains a regular log of pending hot checks. Any merchant can call the office at 793-3365 prior to accepting checks.

Three year old Casey Turner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Ray Turner, told Santa in person what he wanted for Christmas. Santa visited the merchants of the town also today, passing out candy and lots of Christmas cheer. Santa was sponsored by the Mountain View Chamber of Commerce.

386 needy children to have Merry Christmas this year

Three hundred and eighty-six children will have a Merry Christmas this year thanks to the donations to the Stone County Social Services toy and gift drive. "We had a fantastic outpouring from the community," stated Jane Shipman, Social Services Director.

Social Services coordinates the donation and distribution of gifts for needy families every year. This year was the most successful ever with a total of $749 in cash and an astounding amount of clothes and toys donated. Due to the plentiful donations, each of the 386 children participating was given two toys.

"More people than ever participated in both donating and receiving gifts," said Ms. Shipman. The members of the First Baptist Church gathered clothing and the members of the Methodist Church gathered mittens and caps. "There were so many people that did so much," Ms. Shipman stated. "Our volunteers did a fantastic job." "The anonymous gifts were the most touching." "Those people didn't want anything for themselves-just to give."

Social Services would like to thank all of the people who helped to insure a Merry Christmas for so many.

Arkansas Game and Fish Commission re-establishing ruffed grouse in Forest

By Fran Fulton

Hunters and others using the Sylamore National Forest who came across an unusual bird about the size of a pheasant that frequents overgrown forest clearings have been asked to make this information known to the Arkansas Game and Fish Commission.

The bird is a ruffed grouse, an animal once common to the state that has dwindled to the point of extinction due to overhunting and habitat destruction. Game and Fish is in the process of re-establishing this popular game bird and has reintroduced it at Sylamore and five other Arkansas sites.

Mike Widner, a researcher for the University of Arkansas, is studying the Sylamore grouse population for Game and Fish to determine the success with which the bird has adapted to this area. He indicated that reports of sightings from the public will be invaluable in helping him determine the degree to which grouse have reproduced and their dispersal through the Forest.

Information may be submitted by calling the Game and Fish Headquarters at Sylamore at 757-2708 or Widner at 757-2726, or may be mailed to Grouse, Arkansas Game and Fish Commission, Route 1, Box 56, Calico Rock, Arkansas 72519.

Widner asked that those who visit the Forest in the future to be on the lookout for the bird and to notify Game and Fish of any information on its whereabouts.

Am I on your list?

Leader/Jeffries

Santa made the rounds of the courthouse square Monday and children weren't the only ones to put in their requests. We can only speculate what the little fella in the left hand corner asked Santa to leave him under the tree. A chewbone? A kitty cat? A new owner? Gold plated dog tags? Designer collar? Or maybe just a piece of candy from that basket.

Editorials and Opinions ...

The great U.S. Senate mailing rip-off

The cost of franking privileges and government-paid mailings by the U.S. Senate has been revealed for the first time, and it is appalling.

In three months of this year, 100 senators have managed to spend $11 million, sending "junk mail" flyers to constituents. Most of the material is out-and-out campaign propaganda, issued by senators coming up for re-election in November. This is material that should come out of privately donated campaign funds, not the pockets of the taxpayers.

Worst of the Senate spendthrifts was California's Alan Cranston. His government-paid mail for the three month period cost $1,632,832.

Cranston says his expenditure is justified because it is important to communicate with 26 million Californians—and that his mailing cost was only 6 cents per constituent. It won't wash. The total still is $1.6 million and it can't be excused.

Sen. Charles Mathias, Jr., R-Md., chairman of the Senate Committee on Rules and Administration, has been working for some time to get the closely guarded mailing costs opened to the public. He says the 1985 cost of the free-mail privilege in both the House and the Senate will run $144 million.

Mathias says the misuse of the mailing privilege is an embarrassing example of the waste of the taxpayers' money. We say the senator from Maryland is so right. Cranston should be ashamed to lead this rip-off list.

Vital interests

As a protector of lives and property, the U.S. Coast Guard is one of America's indispensable maritime resources. That's why the U.S. Senate should review carefully cuts that have been proposed in this agency's budget.

The Reagan administration requested a $2.55 billion appropriation for the Coast Guard for Fiscal Year 1986, a funding level consistent with the last two years. In November, however, the Senate Appropriations Committee recommended a $200 million cut in the service's $1.8 billion operations budget. This reflected the committee's efforts to trim the Department of Transportation budget, which includes the Coast Guard.

This arbitrary, Draconian cut would require the release of 6,000 civilian and military employees, the mothballing of 49 large ships, and the closing of dozens of search and rescue stations.

The critical national service being performed by the Coast Guard would inevitably be curtailed. It is the world's largest search-and-rescue service, answering 80,000 calls a year and rescuing 7,000 persons. The agency also has the increasingly urgent responsibility of intercepting a flood of refugees, especially along the nation's southeastern coast.

Equally significant is the Coast Guard's major contribution to the war against drug smuggling. In addition, the agency is responsible for a myriad of other missions, including environmental protection, navigational aid, commercial vessel safety and ice-breaking.

Senators who defend the large budget cuts argue that some Coast Guard duties should be privatized. Although this is a seductive argument for conservative support, maritime safety and law enforcement are government functions that belong in the hands of the Coast Guard. Why should the nation sacrifice decades of Coast Guard experience and know-how for a questionable experiment in privatization?

Confronted with this persuasive reasoning and a rising public outcry, the Senate recently lowered the proposed cut from $200 million to $33 million, but this won't do. The increase in drug smuggling requires at the very least that this year's appropriation equal last year's. Considering the Coast Guard's added duties, a good case could be made for increasing the budget.

Saving lives and thwarting coastal crimes do not invite false economies.

Public should attend meetings

Letter to the Editor:

The Mountain View School Board seems to have gotten itself into a bad situation. It's no secret that the board is fighting among itself. The dispute seems to be based on personalities rather than real issues.

This is not what our board members were elected to do. The school board members were elected to work and vote in the best interest of the school and the students, regardless of personal differences.

Mr. Baker, the superintendent of our school system is one of the most capable and qualified men ever to administer the Mountain View school system. He has done an outstanding job of handling the schools' finances and bringing back discipline to our school.

The actions taken against Mr. Baker by some members of the school board seem to be based on a personal grudge rather than anything he has done in running our school. As a result of these actions, little if any progress has been made toward completing the projects already in progress at our new school facility.

It's time for board members to put aside personal disputes and get back to the business of working in the best interests of the students and the community. That's what they were elected to do in the first place.

Mr. Baker needs to know that the school board's actions do not represent the attitude of the community. This can be done by more members of the public attending the school board meetings and showing their concern for the way our board has been behaving. The next regular meeting is scheduled for Monday, January 13.

Officials vote themselves raise

To the Editor:

This Old Year of 1985 is about to give way to the New Year of 1986. A lot of us were caught needing a bit more time to conclude our business. The Congressional Budget is a case in point. Those poor, overworked representatives of the people had to work late into the night in the last month of the year to put together the 1986 Budget. They did manage to give themselves a substantial raise in pay while giving lip service to reducing government spending in an attempt to balance the budget.

At home our own Stone County Quorum Court, on 12 December 1985, approved the County's 1986 budget and managed to increase their salaries and associated benefits over last year's budget by $4,958.24. That's an increase of 24.6% and I doubt very seriously if the general public will be able to fair as well. Golly, just think, if the one-cent county-wide sales tax had passed they could really have gone to the trough.

As an aside, it appears that in their hurry to put the 1986 Budget together they forgot to include the cost of Health Insurance for Veterans Services or Civil Defense. No, you guessed it, they didn't forget the Quorum Court. Their Health Insurance Matching was raised $688 over last year's to $4,000. That raise would cover both Veterans Services and Civil Defense.

Merry Christmas and a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

Thanks for listening and Have A Good Day.

Reagan must veto Protectionist bill

President Reagan has warned Congress that he will veto a bill that would impose trade barriers against textile and shoe imports. We would be greatly surprised and deeply disappointed if he did not follow through on the threat.

Despite the protectionist sentiment in Congress, there appear to be insufficient votes to override a presidential veto of the measure, which would reduce textile and apparel imports from 12 countries, some by as much as 30 percent, reduce shoe imports about 25 percent and direct the president to negotiate voluntary restraints on copper imports. Both House and Senate votes on the measure fell short of the two-thirds majority necessary to override a veto.

The nation's $150 billion 1985 trade deficit is a serious problem that must be confronted, but setting up American trade barriers is not the way to do it. It will only encourage our trading partners to raise their barriers even higher.

The president must now redouble his efforts to persuade other nations to end their unfair trading practices. We trust he will employ other, less harmful, methods of retaliation.

Bumpers backs brucellosis bill

Senator Dale Bumpers today criticized a new Agriculture Department policy that he said would "pull the rug out from under" Arkansas brucellosis eradication program.

The Department announced last week that as of October 1, 1986 it would no longer provide funding to states for calf vaccinations.

"This is an extremely short-sided decision," said Bumpers. "It makes no sense at all. Arkansas is just beginning to make substantial progress in eradicating brucellosis, and the Department of Agriculture is pulling the rug out from under us. Every cattleman knows that calf vaccination is a crucial part of the brucellosis eradication program."

Bumpers has introduced legislation that would give states the final say in how to use federal funding provided to eradicate brucellosis.

"Under my bill it would be up to the state of Arkansas to decide to vaccinate calves," said Bumpers. "I intend to continue to press for passage of my legislation, and to do everything I can to get the Agriculture Department to change this disastrous new policy."

Where was fire truck?

To the Editor:

Thursday night Junior Brewer's house which is located approximately 1/2 mile off the highway from the Blue Sky Travel Park, burned to the ground.

I called the sheriff's department at 6:38 p.m. The sheriff's office said that they would call the fire department. A short time later three men from the Mountain View Fire Department showed up. One man went around to the back of the house and shut off the gas. Then the men left. The fire truck never showed up.

I called back in approximately 30 minutes and asked if the fire truck was coming. I was told that the truck was on the way. I called back the third time and dialed the Mountain View Fire Department. A number of men answered the call. I asked why there was no truck brought to Junior Brewer's house. I was told my someone who did not identify

Timbo junior girls win tournament

By Fran Fulton

A jubilant Timbo junior girls team reversed its earlier regular-season losses to West Side and Shirley and took possession of the Shirley Junior Invitational Tournament crown in a competition that concluded last week.

The young Tigers, the top-ranked team in the event, trailed early against both West Side and Shirley, but managed to save both games with a last-half offensive blitz.

In its semifinals match December 14, Timbo and West Side had battled to a 14 all tie one-third of the way through the second period. Propelled by the shooting and rebounding of a tall player, the Eagles forged ahead on a field goal and two successful free throw shots and went to the dressing room with an 18-14 advantage.

Timbo's Candi Huffines narrowed the gap to two points by sinking a one on one free throw after play resumed, but the Tigers were unable to move in any closer in a hard-fought third period.

West Side connected on a buzzer shot to give the team a 33 to 28 lead at the end of the quarter.

After doing battle for a scoreless two and a half minutes, Timbo turned the tide on a steal and basket by Huffines and an additional two points contributed by Mendy Trammell from the free throw line just seconds later. These were followed by another successful one-and-one attempt by Priscilla Stevens and a floor shot by Trammell, which gave the Tigers a scant one point lead with 3 minutes, 25 seconds remaining on the clock.

It was West Side's turn to play catch up, but Timbo kept up its scoring momentum and pulled further ahead in the frantic last minutes of the game. The final score: Timbo, 42; West Side, 38.

Timbo Coach Jerry Jeffery noted that his players had learned from their previous loss to West Side and managed to avoid putting the team's key scorer on the foul line, a strategy that cut her point total from 21 in the first game to 12 in the semifinals.

The girls also accounted themselves well on the free throw line in the important last quarter, when the team's 9 for 11 performance saved the game for the Tigers, he said.

Shirley, urged on by enthusiastic home court fans, likewise dominated the early part of the finals match on December 15. The Devils ended the first period with a 10 to 4 advantage and held Timbo scoreless until two and a half minutes into the next period, when Huffines exploded with two quick baskets.

Shirley widened the gap again with a field shot, but the Tigers hung in and evened the score on a one and one by Stevens and layup by Huffines with 2:47 on the clock. By intermission, the Tigers clung to a one point lead.

The teams traded baskets until the last minute of the next period, when Timbo went on a six-point scoring binge that was to give it a winning edge. The squad widened its advantage by a single-point in the last period to end with a 34 to 28 win.

Timbo was outscored early in the game, the coach reported because his girls came out flat. "They played good, but they didn't play hard," he said. The team also used a man to man defense that did not work well against the Devils and switched after the first quarter to zone.

This ability to accept mid-game changes in strategy is, as Jeffery sees it, one of the keys to the team's successful season. "They're not big and not physical, but they're smart and quick and adjust well to what I say on the floor."

Again, the girls came through on free throws "in the home stretch," making 8 out of 9 in the first period and putting victory out of reach of the Blue Devils, he said.

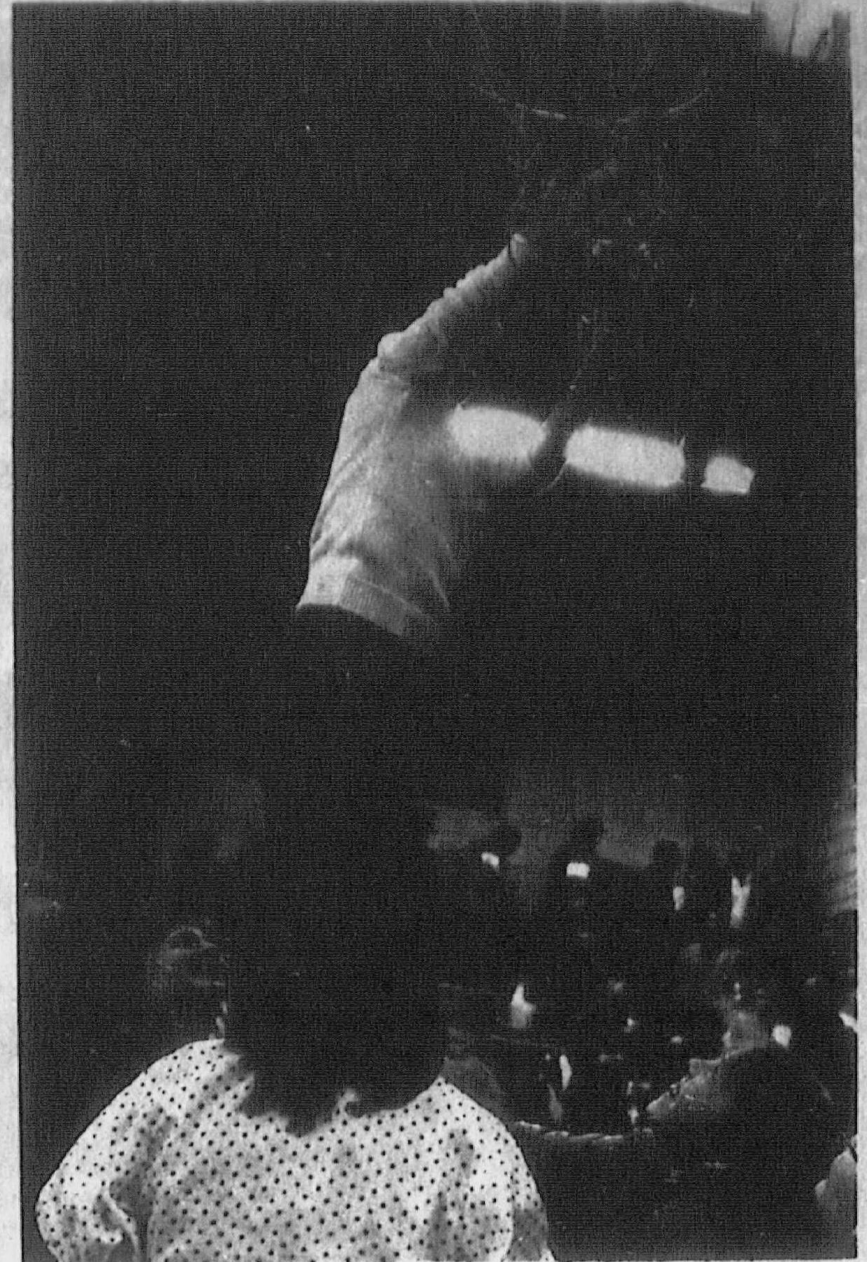

Huffines, an eighth grader, dominated Timbo's offensive attack, contributing a total of 16 points; Trammell had 8 and Stevens, 4. The coach also noted that the other eighth grader on the starting roster, point guard Jenny Hubbard, played one of her two best games of the season against West Side and Shirley. "She played harder and had more hustle than she has all year," he said.

The school's regular schedule resumed Friday with an important match against Conference opponent Leslie, which will be held during Leslie's Homecoming ceremonies. The school is traditionally tough to beat at home because of its small court, said Jeffery, but he added that his players are anxious "to go up there and try to ruin their Homecoming."

After slugging it out against a school in Timbo's classification, he noted.

The Tigers will be taking on formidable opponents, however, in the Leslie senior girls. Although, both teams are undefeated in the 2B West competition and share the top position in the league, Leslie is fielding an unusually strong squad this year that has been beaten only twice.

Jeffery pointed out that the Tiger girls prevailed over Leslie last season "and there's no reason we can't beat them this year if we play up to our capabilities."

himself that, "Junior Brewer does not live in the city limits." He said that the fire was in Allison's district. I asked if the Mountain View Fire Department did not have a way to notify Allison. The man said, "It's not our problem," and hung up the phone.

The Allison Fire Department finally showed up and asked why the Mountain View Fire Department wasn't there. I still have not been given an answer as to why the Mountain View Fire Department never showed up.

The Mountain View Fire Department has gone to fires outside the city limits in the past. Why did they not respond to this fire?

Tri County basketball

By Fran Fulton

The Tri-County boys, which have yet to be beaten by a 2B West opponent, are the fourth-ranked team in the North Arkansas Community College Tournament that will get underway next month.

The Mustangs will take on the winner of the Kingston-Western game on Tuesday, January 7.

Tri-County Coach Tony Conley expressed pleasure that his squad was officially considered one of the frontrunners of the 28 that will compete. "We haven't played many teams around Harrison," he said, "and they had to go on what they'd heard about us."

The boys, fortunately, will have the opportunity to fine-tune their performance after the break in the schedule for the holidays by playing a Wits Springs team that is now at the bottom of the Conference. The match, which was originally slated for earlier this month, was postponed until January 3 because of bad weather.

The girls, meanwhile, will be looking forward to the opportunity to reverse their early-season loss to Wits Springs, Conley said.

The coach got a late start lining up games this year so had trouble filling up the new school's calendar, and the rescheduling of the Wits Springs game left the Mustangs with no contests in the last two weeks of December.

He's not happy with the situation, and is hoping the teams will put in good practices over vacation and be in fighting form by the time the second half of the season resumes.

The junior teams were pitted against Wilburn December 15 and took advantage of the match to add victories to their winning records.

The junior girls were playing somewhat below par because they had been out of action for two weeks and trailed by 8 to 3 after the first quarter of their contest. The Mustangs rallied to "blow them out of the water," in the second quarter said Conley, outscoring their opponents by 10 points.

The team broadened its lead in the second half and ended with a 38 to 18 win.

Jolynn Tibby dominated both the scoreboard and the backboards, running up 17 points and pulling down 11 rebounds. Lisa Sartin had 10 points and 10 rebounds while Candy Hafner had 6 and 7.

The boys recovered from their previous loss to Leslie and overcame a hard-hustling Wilburn team, 67 to 42. Matt Butler made eight out of eight attempts from the floor, as well as pulling down 8 rebounds.

The team's top scorer was Travis Richardson, who had 14 points and 6 rebounds; the leading rebounder was Shane Ramsey, who grabbed 9 and sunk 10 points. David Bass also contributed 8 points to Tri-County's total.

The junior boys have accumulated a season record of 8 wins and 2 losses, while the girls have 6 victories and 3 defeats. Each is 1 and 1 for the conference.

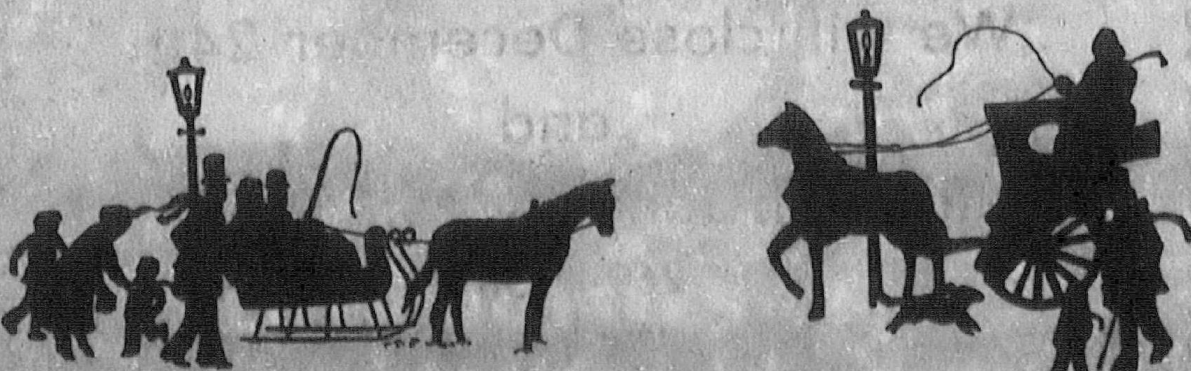

The teams were slated to compete in the Concord Junior Tournament this month, but snowy weather forced the games to be postponed until sometime in January.

Scramble

Mountain View sophomore Pat O'Neill scrambles for the ball against the Heber Springs Panthers last Tuesday night in Mountain View. The Yellowjackets lost the game by four points in a match that could have gone either way.

Rural Special basketball

By Fran Fulton

The Rural Special senior boys brought the first half of their basketball season to a close with losses to Norfolk, one of the top B schools in the state, as well as a traditional powerhouse, West Side, and the strongest Scotland team Rebel Coach Robert Ross can remember.

The team did well against both Norfolk and Scotland, but was somewhat intimidated by the Eagles and played poorly. Still, Ross thinks Rural Special could have bested everyone except the unbeatable Norfolk, had the team adopted a different offensive strategy.

The Rebels had to work against the disadvantage of playing on Scotland's small court and before the Bulldog Homecoming crowd as well in its game December 10.

Scotland ran up a quick 12 point lead, but was unable to pull further away from the visitors after Ross reshuffled the Rebel attack to let the team's top point maker, Ben Lockard, take over the major scoring duties.

The senior, who dunked a total of 37 points for the game, "really tore them up," said Ross. "We spread out our offense a little and let him work the middle by himself and shoveled the ball to him.

"If we'd been smart enough to do that at the first of the game we might have won it."

As it was, the Rebels would get within 8 points of Scotland, only to have their opponents lob 25-foot bombs that never missed their mark. They were 12 behind at the final horn.

Lockard was paralyzed by the strong West Side attack after going on a first-quarter blitz that put Rural Special ahead at the end of the first period. "They shut him down, and we didn't have anyone else to take the ball," said Ross.

He thinks the team's fortunes could have been different if it had departed from the offensive attack it used successfully in the last half of the Scotland game. "If I had stuck Lockard on the wing," he speculated, "instead of post, they would have left the middle open when they went to guard him."

The senior was kept to 10 points, while Kevin Shelhamer contributed another 10 and Don Dodd had 9.

The boys were no match for powerful Norfolk, which has sustained only one defeat this season. They were very much in the game, however, until the team, still feeling the effects of the match against West Side the previous night, wore down in the final period. The contest went to Norfolk, 78 to 54.

"They're one of the best teams I've seen," Ross declared. "My kids did a real good job. They'll play bad against West Side, then go against the number four team in the state and play their pants off."

Lockard dominated the team's scoring with 22 points.

The senior girls, meanwhile, were anticipating adding an easy victory to their record by beating Scotland, but received word that the team had been disbanded the day before. "That's the way our luck goes," the coach observed.

The girls also took on a tough opponent in West Side, which is fielding almost the same team as the one that battled its way to the quarterfinals of the state Class A Tournament last year.

The Rebels rolled up an early lead, but West Side rebounded with a third-quarter rally that left Rural Special far behind. The game went to the Eagles by a 54 to 30 margin.

High scorer for Rural Special was Tonya Sanchez with 10 points.

Norfolk's girls team is also strong and prevailed over the Rebels, 54 to 36. The Rebels would rally and pull within eight points, only to have Norfolk widen the gap again.

The bright spot in the mid-December games was the junior boys 43 to 37 win over Scotland. The Rebels won, said the coach, by putting the top Bulldog player, Darren Honeycutt, out of action.

"We keyed on him," said Ross. "We fouled him out of the ballgame. Brian Berry did a real good job and took the last charge that got him out of the game."

Berry also made good on five out of six trips to the free throw line, sinking points that proved to be crucial to Rural Special's victory, he noted.

Chris Sanchez, who had the job of guarding Honeycutt, contributed 21 points to the team's total.

The young Rebels were on the losing end of their later match against West Side which ended in a 66 to 41 decision. Ross observed that everyone on his first string was shorter than the Eagle starters, a handicap that proved to be impossible to overcome.

"I think we could have played with them if we had any height at all," he noted. "We didn't have anyone who could stay on the boards with them."

Rebel Jesse Berry went inside to sink 13 points against the Eagles.

After a brief break for Christmas, the teams were slated to begin practice on December 27 to prepare for a rematch against Mountain View that will be played on the Rebel court January 3.

The coach is looking for his Rebels to overturn some of their early-season losses in the second round of games this winter. He also has his eyes on the District Tournament that concludes the season, noting that, if the Rebels survive the first two rounds, they could very well have a ticket to the state competition. (This will happen if the same team dominates both the regular Conference season and the Tournament, as the runner-up in the Tournament automatically goes to the state contest in such cases.)

County health unit offers free service

The Stone County Health Unit and Juanita Coleman would like to introduce to the residents of Stone County our Health Services. Ms. Coleman has been coordinating health care for a variety of services the last 17 years.

She coordinates and provides technical assistance in our personal care program. This program is funded by Medicaid and SSI. We serve the Stone County residents who require assistance with personal hygiene and light housekeeping chores. Ms. Coleman assists Ms. Jeanne Brooks, RN, in the supervision of the aides in the personal care program.

Ms. Coleman provides skilled nursing care to patients in home health care. She receives referrals from physicians in Stone County and/or statewide physicians. The referral by a physician is an integral part of the admission process. She then evaluates the patients' needs. To be admitted, Ms. Coleman assures that the patient is essentially homebound. She determines in her assessment of the patient what other ancillary services may be required.

She contacts other skilled professionals to provide therapy for the patient. Her supervision and planning with speech or physical therapists provides the patient with the service needed. A physical and speech therapist is contracted by the county unit and is available upon request by your physician.

A community health aide increases our service potential by supplementing the plan of treatment established by the nurse or the therapists. The aide is supervised bi-weekly by Ms. Coleman to assist the aide in performing her job as ordered by the physician.

Patients admitted to the personal care program or home health program are under no obligation financially. Because we are a public health agency funded by your tax dollars our services are free. We bill only those existing programs which will pay for home health or personal care. A patient eligible for Medicare, Medicaid, private insurance, and veterans administration insurance can be admitted to our program.

The patient who isn't eligible for one of these programs is still admitted at no cost to the patient or family. Your tax dollars already have paid for your health services.

Ms. Coleman services all ages of clients with all types of resources. She provides home health to infants and the elderly. Because of the wide variance of ages of her clients she draws on the agency for resource information to provide each client the optimum of care. Resources available include: nutritionists, social workers, pharmacists, dental consultants, audiologists, communicable disease consultants, maternal and child consultants, and home health consultants. These resources and Ms. Coleman's skilled nursing expertise are available by calling 269-3308.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Allan Wilson

Rebecca Diane Keyser and Mark Allan Wilson, both of Wichita, Kansas, were united in marriage at 4:30 p.m., Saturday, October 5, at the Council Grove, Kansas United Methodist Church with Rev. Gary Beach performing the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Keyser, Council Grove; Loyd Wilson, Wichita, and Mrs. Lois Wilson, Mountain View.

Wedding music was provided by Betty Montgomery, Donna Montgomery, Christy Adams, Kenny

Adams, Bill Shade, Nancy Keyser and Ralph Mock. They sang "Surround Me With Love," "Nobody Loves Me Like You Do," "My Only Love," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The church was decorated with brass candelabrae, greenery, pink and burgundy bows, mauve silk cornflowers and pink tapers.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, wore a white satin gown trimmed in beaded silk venise lace, with off-the-shoulder elbow length puffed sleeves trimmed in silk venise. The fitted bodice was covered with venise flowers and beading, and the dress featured covered buttons down the back and a ruffled semi-cathedral length train. To complete the ensemble, the bride wore a white floral halo with beading and fingertip veil. Her pearl earrings were a gift from the groom.

The bride's bouquet was a flowing crescent cascade of burgundy and dusty pink silk roses with mauve double silk baby's breath and pixie buds tied in pico love knots.

The groom wore a silver tuxedo with pink bowtie and cummerbund. His boutonniere was a burgundy silk rose with mauve baby's breath.

Mrs. Melanie Byram, Houston, Texas, attended her sister as matron of honor. Loyd Wilson served as his son's best man. Groomsman were Rass Williams and Chris Roberts, both of Wichita. They wore silver tuxedos with gray bowties and cummerbunds. Nancy Keyser, sister of the bride, and Donna Montgomery served as bridesmaids. They and the matron of honor wore burgundy satin dresses.

Flower girls were Kelley Wilson, sister of the groom, and Crystal Delmar, niece of the groom. Bill Shade and Harry Byram served as ushers.

A reception was held after the ceremony, with a dance following.

The bride is a graduate of Council Grove High School, attended Kansas State University, and received a bachelor's of science in nursing degree from Wichita State University in 1985. She is a registered nurse in the Coronary Care Unit at Wesley Medical Center in Wichita. The groom is a graduate of Mountain View High School and is employed by Air Capital Exterminating in Wichita.

After a wedding trip to Denver and Colorado Springs, Colorado, the couple is at home at 2150 N. Meridian in Wichita.

Mrs. Darrell Wallace

The garden of the Graham, Gaughan Betts home was the setting for the wedding of Karen Janette Hook and Darrell Wayne Wallace on September 6, 1985. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B.J. Hook of Camden. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vonda Wallace of Mountain View, Arkansas. Performing the double-ring ceremony was Rev. David McKellips, cousin of the bride. He is the pastor of the Church of the Nazarene in Parsons, Kansas.

Exchanging of the vows was in front of the gazebo which was surrounded by ferns, with the unity candle to the side. The fountain was draped with branches of weeping willows. Music was provided by David Platt, organist, and Pam Platt, soloist. Both are from Camden.

The bride, who was escorted across the lawn by her father, wore a Victorian, off-the-shoulder gown, accented with wide eyelet ruffles, ballgown sleeves with satin bows at the elbows and shoulders, a basque waistline, voile overskirt, with pickups, caught with satin ribbons and pink rosebuds. The cotton eyelet-ruffled hem formed a chapel-length train. Her matching Victorian hat was trimmed in eyelet and accented with satin bows and ribbon streamers in back. She carried a full cascade of silk white roses, orchids, dusty rose baby's breath and pink spring blossoms with trailing ivy, seed pearls and tiny ribbons of dusty rose and burgundy.

Renon Wilson of Dallas was the maid of honor. J.J. Morris of Camden was bridesmaid. They wore identical gowns of dusty rose chiffon over taffeta and carried a closed white lace parasol filled with dusty rose roses, lillies, boston ferns and matching satin loops.

Stanley Long of Conway, brother-in-law of the groom, served as best man. Bobby Hook, brother of the bride, served as groomsman.

The groom and his attendants wore afternoon tuxedos of charcoal grey striped pants, solid grey coat with grey and white striped ascot.

Aleisha Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Smith of Camden, served as flower girl.

Nicholas Dudley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Dudley of North Little Rock, served as ring bearer.

A garden reception followed the wedding. The bride's table had a white gathered skirt with a white imported lace overlay. The centerpiece, a silver bowl with dusty rose candles, held an arrangement of fresh flowers. The three-tiered cake was covered with white petunias with deep rose centers. The bottom tier held a pair of love birds.

The groom's table, covered with a gathered brown skirt, with an ivory lace overlay, held a chocolate cake in the shape of a guitar.

Servers at the bride's table were Kathy Bateman, Linda Demster, and Shirley Quarles.

Serving at the groom's table was Tina Daniels.

The bride's book was kept by Eileen Johnson. All are from Camden.

After a honeymoon trip to the Grand Bahamas, the couple will reside in Camden, where the groom is employed by Harris Construction Co. The bride is employed at General Dynamics.

150 Calendars offered

Sesquicentennial Calendar featuring thirteen historic photographs of Arkansas buildings are available from the Arkansas Historic Preservation Program. The photographs depict structures from the earliest days of statehood into this century. Also included on appropriate days throughout the calendar are facts relating to the history of preservation in Arkansas and the United States. The calendar grew out of a project sponsored by the Historic Preservation Task Force of the Sesquicentennial Commission to collect period photographs of Arkansas structures. These thirteen are a distillation of hundreds of photographs submitted by Arkansans. They give us great insight into the triumphs as well as the growing pains of a burgeoning state. Wilson Stiles, director of the Arkansas Historic Preservation Program says in an introduction to the calendar. Arkansans are shown at work and play in the photographs and in the surroundings they had built for themselves. In an 1895 picture a group of girls are having a snack in the dining room of a Heber Springs house built in 1870 while early settlers of Jackson County are shown standing in front of their two-story dogtrot house with their two daughters. Following the development of the state, the calendar includes a proud owner standing in his three-piece suit in front of his Lion Oil station built in the late twenties, and the Matthews House in North Little Rock, built in 1929, which was advertised as "The Modernistic Home for the Modernistic Family."

Copies of the calendar can be ordered from the Arkansas Historic Preservation Program for a handling fee of $2.00. Inquiries or orders should be directed to: The Arkansas Historic Preservation Program, The Heritage Center, Suite 200, 225 East Markham, Little Rock, AR 72201 (501) 371-2763.

Mountain View EHC News

The Mountain View EH Club met for their annual Christmas party on December 16 in the home of Mrs. Martha Hinesley. There were seven members and two guests present. Martha was assisted by co-hostess Kay Hinkle and Naomi Gayler.

Martha's house was decorated with greenery and candles all glowing with the spirit of Christmas. Each place setting at the table was marked with a personalized hand stitched ornament. A Christmas stocking was pinned on each person as they arrived. All of the favors were made by the hostess and co-hostesses.

A delicious potluck consisted of casseroles and salads. The blessing of the food was given by Jan Isbell. After dinner, secret pals were revealed and Christmas gifts exchanged. Santa was behind on his Christmas preparations and was unable to make the party this year but maybe next year he can make it.

Secret pals and hostess months were drawn for next year. Christmas gifts for needy children were brought by each club member and given to Social Services to be distributed.

Two new members joined club for next year, Sarah Luther and Donna Sullivan. Donna is really an old member who had just taken a leave of absence. We are pleased that they will be in club next year. The door prize was presented to Robbie Jeffery.

A Merry Christmas wish to everyone and especially to Alpha Williams out in Oildale, California, who always remembers me each year with a Christmas card. Alpha, if it wasn't for folks like you, I wouldn't bother with trying to write the news from our community.

We are glad to report that Mrs. Myrtle Williams is much better. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Nesbitt visited the L.T. Williams on Tuesday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hill visited Raymond and Shelia Gentry in Little Rock over the weekend.

Mr. Leonard Glenn had surgery on Monday and is looking forward to coming home next Monday. We are happy he is doing so well.

Our sincere sympathy to the family of Bill McClung who passed away this week. Bill was a cousin of Mrs. Grace Nesbitt.

Aunt Clara, who has been visiting Jim and Joan Wiede, returned to her home in Texas on Wednesday. Lisa and Randy Wiede are home from Rushton for Christmas.

Ben 4-H

The Ben 4-H held their regular meeting on December 10, 1985 at the home of Theresa Deckard. All members were present. We discussed our Christmas party to be held December 14, 1985.

Jennifer Deckard gave a demonstration on making a butterfly wall plaque out of placemats. We were real proud of her work. Jennifer is nine years old. The meeting was adjourned and refreshments were served by Jennifer.

Herpel EHC

The Herpel EH Club met with Mrs. Ruth Muzzy on Monday, December 16, for a potluck lunch. There were 10 members and two visitors present for the bountiful meal and gift exchange. Counted cross stitch was shown by Alice Condrey and Mrs. Ruth Muzzy. We enjoyed the beautiful view from Mrs. Muzzy's living room. Also pictures of the different seasons she had in her picture album. Sorry some of our members couldn't be there due to sickness.

Pleasant Grove

By Norma Bartosik
I drove to Mountain View this morning and there were some spots that were pretty slick.

The Mildred Younger house burned to the ground. No one was home at the time.

Harold and Dot Davis drove to Ypsilanti, Michigan to help move Harold's uncle, Walter Gray to Melrose, where he has built a new house.

Novelle Copeland and her sister Pauline Edmondson flew to San Antonio, Texas to spend the Thanksgiving weekend with their sister.

John H. Gray and Lenora Gray from Warren, Michigan visited Lola Davis last week. Margie Wagner from California is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Blair and other relatives. Not much news this week. Everyone is busy getting ready for Christmas. I have a feeling it will be a white one and cold.
