Edwin Whitworth celebrates five years of being free from lung cancer.

Local resident celebrates freedom from lung cancer

By Lori Freeze

"That sort of thing happens only to someone else."

It's a common sentiment of people who consider the horror of cancer and that was the attitude of Edwin "Whit" Whitworth in 1983 before his lung cancer was discovered.

But it did happen to him and five years later he is happy to tell about his victory over the dreaded disease in hopes that it might help someone else. The 67-year-old is among the fewer than ten percent of people who survive lung cancer.

"Whit," as he is called, accredited his victory to early detection and an excellent surgeon. A former heavy smoker, he said laboratory tests have confirmed that was the source of the disease. He said he smoked for about 50 years - up to one and a half packs during the last 15-20 years.

He and his wife had started the foundation for their house in Mountain View when the cancer was discovered. They postponed their move from Stoneville, Mississippi, so that he could undergo the necessary surgery and subsequent cobalt treatments. "I thought I'd be dead in six months," Whit said.

He has known several people who died with lung cancer.

After his treatments the surgeon, Dr. Hugh Gamble, advised them to complete the house and move to the Ozarks, which is what they did on February 3, 1984.

Two lobes of his right lung were removed with the cancer and he is now often short of breath and has low blood pressure. Whit already had a heart problem, which the cancer treatments only aggravated.

The past five years have not been easy, he said, but he is happy to be alive. However, the cancer took its toll in that it ruined his retirement by limiting his activity.

After five years there is little chance of the same cancer re-occurring, although new ones are possible. He recommends that people have chest x-rays every year so that any cancers can be detected early as his was. His other advice, understandably, is never smoke cigarettes.

The Whitworths' daughter stopped smoking before his cancer was discovered and his son stopped afterwards. He can only hope his experience will help other people lead more healthy lives.

Sheriff's department leads in marijuana arrests

A marijuana eradication report released by the Arkansas State Police shows the Stone County Sheriff's Department as having made more marijuana-related arrests so far this year than any other Arkansas county sheriff's department.

The Stone County Sheriff's Department is listed as having made 14 arrests through August. The counties with the second most arrests were Crawford and Logan with 9 arrests each.

Stone County was ranked sixth in the state in the number of plants confiscated with 4,039 confiscated through August. The department was ranked fifth in the number of plots seized, having raided 26 plots through August. All 75 Arkansas county sheriff's departments are listed in the report.

Chief Deputy Steve Broad-

haver said 509 plants have been confiscated since August which will be added to the State Police totals. One person has been arrested since August and will also be added to the totals.

The Stone County Sheriff's Department was ranked first in the state in number of plants confiscated in 1985, sixth in 1986, and in the thirties in 1987. Sheriff Dave Barnum sees this as a good sign. The sheriff said this indicates less marijuana is being grown in Stone County as a result of tough law enforcement.

Barnum said the increase in the number of plants this year is because one large plot was found in the Pleasant Grove area. "The work we have done in the past has reduced the amount growing in the county. As a result, we have more time to watch plots and make arrests," he said.

Local candidates disqualified

By Lori Freeze

Unless there is a new development before Monday, the names of 18 candidates for municipal offices and four for county constable positions will not be on the November ballot because the candidates failed to file a political practices pledge.

The Stone County Election Commission made the decision at a meeting Tuesday morning after seeking advice from county attorney Whit Fowlkes and the election law specialist from the Arkansas Secretary of State's office.

The pledge form verifies that a candidate is familiar with election laws, that he has never been convicted of a felony and that he has paid all filing fees. The form is required of all candidates except those for school board positions, for instance, and the deadline for filing them was September 9.

The decision affects all races for city council in Mountain View and Fifty Six, where three positions in each were contested. It also affects the position of Mountain View City Recorder/Treasurer for which two candidates had filed.

The Arkansas Constitution provides that in such a situation the incumbents in each position would remain in office, Fowlkes said. Positions with no incumbent would be filled as would a normal vacancy.

Candidates for county offices, except four in constable races, filed the form along with a Democratic or Republican Party Pledge. Since independent candidates did not fill out a party pledge, they were responsible for filing a separate Political Practices Pledge.

Only two candidates for municipal positions filed a pledge:

Oma Jean Balentine and Juanita Kendrick, who are running unopposed for Fifty Six City Council and Fifty Six City Recorder respectively.

The election commission considered allowing all candidates to file a pledge this week but decided against it because the election could be challenged on the basis that the deadline was missed.

The commission is scheduled to meet with candidates Monday to draw for positions on the ballot. Ballots must be printed by Tuesday.

The situation arose last week after Steve Eldridge of Izard County was told his attempt to be a write-in candidate for state representative would be unsuccessful because he failed to file the required pledge form by the deadline.

Monday, the Carroll County Election Commission disqualified 42 candidates for city council positions and other offices.

A election specialist in the Secretary of State's office told Stone County officials that about 10 other counties were researching the same problem Tuesday morning.

If the decision stands there will be no elections held in Mountain View and the Fifty Six ballot will contain only two names. Apparently, all incumbents will hold office for another two years.

Mayors in the two cities were elected to four-year terms and were not required to run this year.

Election officials said steps would be taken to assure that in the future all candidates would be presented a list of requirements they must meet. Several candidates and at least one of the election commissioners said they were unaware people seeking municipal offices were required to file the form.

Future of rural schools considered at meeting

By Fran Fulton

Tri County drew an unusually large and apprehensive crowd at the public hearing it must hold annually to review its accomplishments and discuss its goals.

Many who turned out for the September 19 meeting wanted to know if the district had any future whatsoever. Dr. Hugh Pace, the school's superintendent, was less than reassuring.

"I don't think our situation is hopeless," he told the Leader the following day. "But it's going to be a long, uphill battle. What they have to do is contact their legislators and convince them Tri County is worth saving."

Many rural educators across the state have been wondering much the same thing after the Arkansas Business Council declared open season on small schools this fall.

Tri-County, in particular, is in a precarious financial position because it is due to lose the $150,000 it received this year through a special consolidation incentive program. Pace warned, however, that all small schools - with the exception of independently wealthy ones like Newark - will face their day of reckoning in the not-too-distant future.

The state's top business leaders have agreed to subject themselves to higher taxes to pay for reforms in local schools and higher education. In return, however, they have demanded that the educational establishment make a corresponding sacrifice.

The council has set its sights on 100 of the state's smaller schools that, in the words of the report, are meeting the educational standards "on paper" only. Their concern: the districts lack the financial resources to keep the reforms in place and the students to adequately fill out required classes.

All three of Stone County's rural schools would fall by the wayside if the council has its way. Tri-County, with an average daily attendance of 211 in 1986-87, was ranked the 29th smallest school in the state in the most recent statistical report compiled by the state Department

Canoe races to benefit day care center

A new event is being established in Stone County as a benefit for the Sunshine Daycare Center, a project of the Community Resource Council.

The First Annual Sunshine Daycare Center Canoe Races are set for October 8 at Jack's Fishing Resort north of Mountain View.

Sponsored by White River Canoe and Raft and Custom Expeditions, the event will include 9-mile races and 4 1/2-mile races in several divisions.

Canoes, rafts, paddles and life jackets will be furnished by White River Canoe and Raft and Custom Expeditions or participants may bring their own. Pins will be provided for all participants and trophies will be awarded to top finishers.

A $15 registration fee will be charged for each canoe or raft entry, and is tax deductible. All proceeds go toward funding the Sunshine Daycare Center.

Morning races begin at 10 a.m. at Boswell Shoals for the nine-mile distance. Men's open division will begin first, followed by women's open at 10:15, junior open at 10:30 and adult and child at 10:45 (over 21 and under 14 years old).

Afternoon races of about 4 1/2 miles begin at Lancaster's Landing at 1 p.m. with mixed adults, followed by adult and child at 1:30 and a second chance race at 1:15 (no winners of morning races).

All participants must check in at Boswell Shoals between 8 and 10 a.m. for morning races and at Lancaster's Landing between 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. for afternoon races. Follow signs on Highway 5.

For more information contact Bart Rand at 585-2211.

Planning for the daycare center project is complete and construction will begin as soon as funds become available, according to Frieda Williams, project coordinator.

Millage increase approved; Sebert retains position

Timbo's campaign for a nine mill tax increase got a ringing endorsement from the voters last Tuesday, as it carried 258 to 109.

Superintendent Ronnie Lee was particularly gratified with the turnout, which he said represented about 85 percent of the registered voters. The victory, he noted, will send an important message of support to teachers as well as legislators.

"The results show my people want their school," the superintendent said.

The only contested race for a local school board was at Rural Special, where the two-term incumbent and current chairman, Harry Sebert, kept his post by a slim margin. Sebert had 116 votes; Bob Lay, 101.

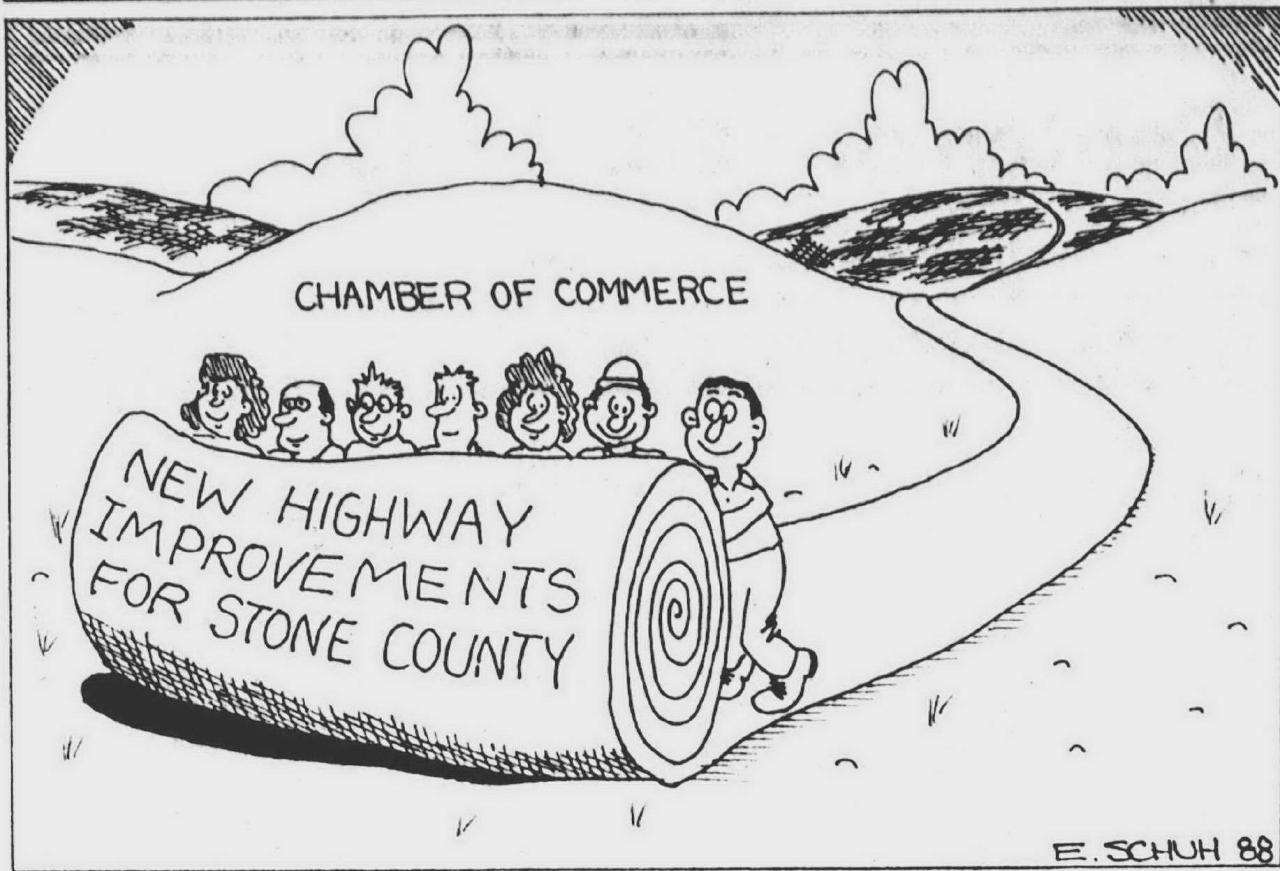

A new telephone for the deaf and hearing impaired has been installed at the Stone County Sheriff's office. Lenore Treat, of Fox, above, watches as sheriff's department dispatcher and jaller Ken Sutterfield operates the machine. Mrs. Treat is a "deaf consumer" who has a telephone device for the deaf unit in her home. A third TDD unit is in use at Pleasant Grove. The device is operated by typing a message which is transmitted to a receiver and displayed on a screen. Sherry Hillburn with the Arkansas Department of Health and Human Services said assistance in obtaining one of the TDD units is available through several sources.

Chamber works for better roads

The White River Planning and Development District organized a meeting of State Highway Commissioners and representatives of 10 area planning district counties. The public forum was held last Tuesday night at Arkansas College in Batesville and was designed to explain and discuss the Highway Department's Economic Development Corridor Improvement Plan for the Arkansas State Highway system. The meeting was also designed to gain public support for the 20-year plan.

The statewide plan proposes improvements to the state's major highway network by the year 2010 at an estimated cost of nearly two billion dollars.

The plan calls for a four-lane system for all cities with a population of 10,000 or more and links to cities projected to have a population of 5,000 or more. It also calls for links from all major commodity flow corridors to the four-lane system.

All of this boils down to better roads for Arkansas.

Stone County is included in the plan with improvements slated for State Highways 5 South and 14 East. Passing lanes are planned for the two highways, which are classified as part of the tourist and commodity flow network.

Stone County was well represented at the meeting. Mountain View Area Chamber of Commerce President Ron Sims spoke to the group on behalf of the Chamber. Stone County Judge Coleman Gammill spoke on behalf of the county. Chamber members Jerry Lance, James Earl Franks, and several others attended the meeting as well as quorum court members Kathy Greenway and Scott Branscum. In all, about a dozen Stone Countians traveled to Batesville for the meeting.

Ron Sims said he was pleased with the turnout from Stone County and thanked those who made the trip. "We're seeing growth in all areas of our economy, especially in the industrial area. Our chamber has been working toward an economic balance between industry, agriculture, the timber industry, education and tourism. A good highway system will benefit all of these," he said. "We support the Highway Commission's entire program for the state," Sims added.

It was the Mountain View Chamber of Commerce that hosted the first such highway meeting on September 4 last year at the Ozark Folk Center in Mountain View. Then Highway Department Director Henry Gray and the State Highway Commissioners spoke with chamber members and local representatives about the statewide plan for the first time.

The Mountain View Chamber of Commerce is to be commended for starting the ball rolling in the effort to gain support for the Highway Department's plan for better Arkansas roads. While this project will take a long time, and many problems will have to be ironed out in the process, ultimately better roads for Arkansas can lead only to a better lifestyle for everyone.

While some may argue that better highways also mean faster traffic and a more dangerous route, we believe such will not be the case here because our area probably will receive only passing lanes. A passing lane on Rocky Bayou hill, for example, which is already in the works, can only mean a safer road and one that looks more reasonable to those who must transport goods from our growing industrial community.

'Good suiters' favor school consolidation

Small schools have been put on the defensive for too long. It is time to accept them as a permanent part of the educational landscape.

This will allow all of us to get on with more pressing business at hand: things like helping our local schools build on the reforms of 1983; shoring up our sorely-neglected colleges and universities; helping children who are at risk, education-wise, and the vast number of adult Arkansians who can't read a want ad, much less this editorial.

We've got better things to do than go around the consolidation merry-go-round again and again.

It should have come as little surprise that the same business magnates who've survived by gobbling up their smaller competitors should call for similar economies of scale in education.

They urged massive consolidation three weeks ago, unweaving, with great fanfare, a plan that would force almost one of every three school districts to reorganize. There is some trade-off involved: These special interests would agree to the higher taxes that they have so successfully blocked in years past.

Our response has to be thanks, but no thanks, to a somewhat less than generous offer.

Hopefully, the powers that be will come to much the same conclusion.

The "good suiters," as the Arkansas Business Council is commonly known, are treading on dubious ground when they contend that uprooting the network of small schools will save much in the way of taxpayer dollars.

The plan looks even more horrendous from an

Debate puts image over substance

Like an estimated 100 million other interested Americans, I watched the presidential debate on TV Sunday night.

Many people will decide how to vote in November from watching either Sunday's debate or the second one scheduled for mid-October. I don't put much stock in these events (you can't call them debates in the classic sense) because they are too staged and because nearly all the responses are too rehearsed.

I watched for a different reason. I wanted to see if George Bush got his money's worth when he hired a "media wizard" for over $3 million.

George hired the same man who made Richard Nixon look better back in 1968 (which was no easy task). He also put Ronald Reagan back together after his first debate with Walter Mondale. Reagan really blew it on the first one when he appeared doddering, incompetent, old and confused (he still appears so, but at least Roger Ailes slicked him up enough to hold his own during the second debate).

It seems obscene with so many homeless and hungry people in this country that the vice president would pay over $3 million to someone to make him appear more like Ronald Reagan on TV. Is this what American presidential politics has come down to? Are we so fascinated with TV that we require our top leaders to master it before we vote for them?

In this era of the television campaign "image" is everything. The roving, intrusive camera picks up everything, including little things like body language and something called "nonverbal messages." But according to experts, these "little things" are what gets a president elected.

After closely watching Sunday's debate, I must say that old George wasted that three million.

For the past six years a team of psychologists and political scientists from Dartmouth College has been examining the relationship between how people vote and a candidate's personality and body language. They watched hours of video tapes to identify what the politicians were feeling and how they made the voters feel.

The researchers felt their study was important because some 75 to 80 percent of the time a voter will choose a candidate based on feelings and personality rather than issues or party.

The research team studied videos of all this year's presidential candidates except Alexander Haig and Bruce Babbitt, who were early dropouts.

Data, which included reactions to all the candidates, showed that women registered significantly lower "happiness and comfort" ratings for Bush than for the other candidates (females also gave Dukakis extremely low levels of fear and anger). More surprising was the reaction to Bush's "positive" display. One researcher said that when Bush becomes happy, "males in particular describe him as more fearful."

Those making the studies were shocked by Bush's "warmth index." Every other candidate examined had a net warmth index except Bush.

One reason for this, according to the study, is Bush's unfortunate trademark, "a tortured smile preceded by an instantaneous grimace." The latter is an example of what researchers call "micro-expressions"—flashed facial contortions that reveal the concealed emotion. The study says anyone with a VCR and a pause button can pick up on it. If he is tense or the question is tough, Bush tends to pull down the edges of his mouth into a full frown for just a split second before raising them into a weak smile.

Slabtown Sojourner

BY E.C. COPELAND

Often, says the study, the result is a "fear smile," which is different from Bush's genuine "felt" smile, which happens to be warm and engaging. Each uses a different muscle set; both are nearly impossible to consciously control (I noticed his "fear smile" came through several times Sunday night when Dukakis tried to pin him down on the Iran-Contra issue).

Delving deeper into it, researchers say Bush is particularly prone to two common forms of nervous response - blinking rapidly and flicking his eyeballs left and right - both of which signal to the TV viewer uncontrolled anxiety. The rapid blinking showed up conspicuously during Bush's recent appearance on ABC's "Nightline" because Ted Koppel has a lower blink rate than the faces on Mt. Rushmore (Sunday night Bush was batting his eyes like a frog in a hallstom).

The study says it's hard to overestimate the importance of a warm, relaxed facial expression. The Dartmouth scientists say candidates' happy and reassuring facial expressions were major factors in how people vote. Ronald Reagan's appeal in this regard is obvious, yet his warmth ratings were actually lower than Gary Hart's.

Mondale's cool demeanor apparently went against him. His expressions, we're told, were seen as blended and didn't evoke a positive affect.

Voice is also a powerful image factor say the researchers, and Bush may have the least attractive voice since George McGovern, who sounded like a kazoo full of lawn clippings.

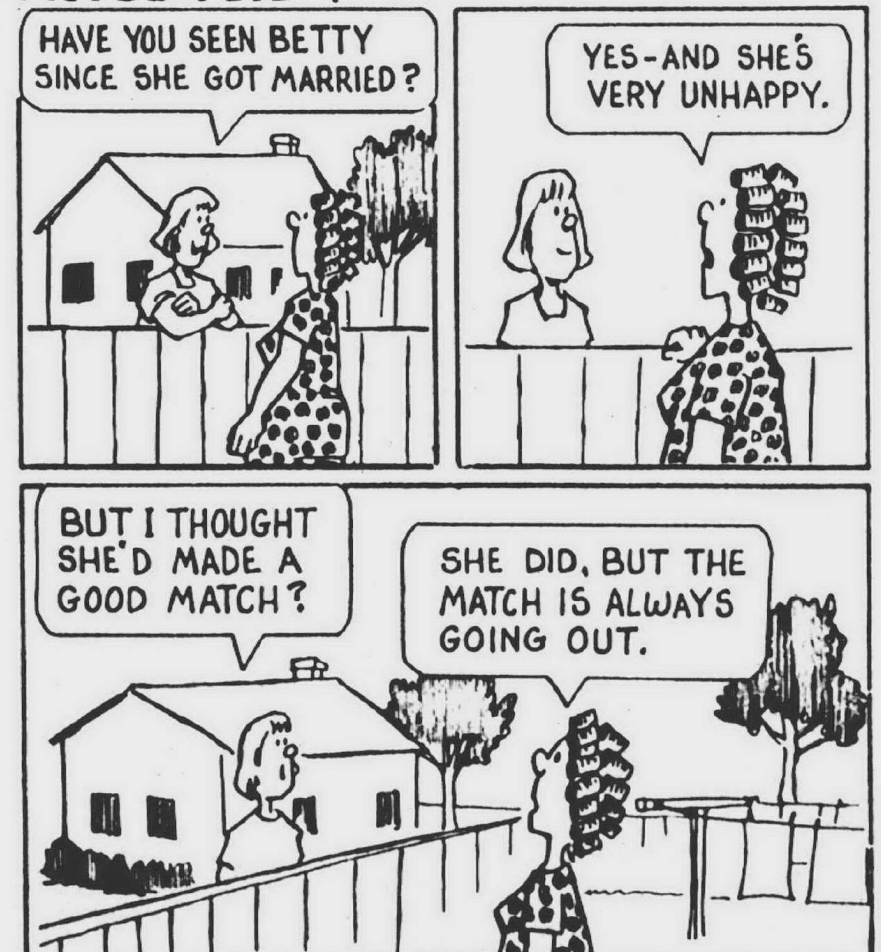

The vice president is too quavery and nasal to be immediately attractive to the American ear, which has been TV-tuned to crisp and mellifluous announcers. "Worse," says a Dartmouth scientist, "his voice goes up to a pitch approaching female vocal registers." Research shows that for about seven out of ten people, "pitch becomes higher when the subject is upset."

Bush's often girlish giggle also isn't setting too well with voters.

"Rising pitch alone may not create a damning impression," says the Dartmouth group, "but in Bush's case, it is reinforced by several other liabilities." One is his accent. "General American speech" (what midwesterners speak) is generally viewed as more credible than Southern or New England speech. People perceive a nasal voice as whiny, argumentative or lazy; and a thin voice as immature, emotional and sensitive. Bush's voice is both and it won't be easy to change.

A cultural anthropologist who authored the book "Ritual, Politics and Power" says: "In electing a president, we choose someone who can personify the unifying myths of the nation. The president represents both a glorified image we have of ourselves and an image we have of a benevolent power greater than ourselves. The problem Bush has is that he represents neither very well. He lacks the most essential characteristic of popular identification, namely a home and community. Neither his official residence, a Houston hotel, nor his only actual home, an 11-acre estate on the Maine coast, is likely to generate the kind of popular identification he needs."

News from Stone County's past . . .

30 Years Ago

In 1946 the people of Arkansas added an amendment to the Constitution which permitted counties to vote a one-mill tax for the support of a county library. This is known as Amendment 38.

Now the time has come when our county can take advantage of this legislation for better library service. The passage of the county tax in Stone County would mean $2,517.00 for the support of the County Library. The state aid added to this county money would mean an increase of approximately $6,000 per year, plus the use of the Bookmobile.

The tax to be levied is only one mill, or one dollar on each $1,000 property evaluation. The average citizens library tax will not exceed the price of one book privately purchased and will make a great number of books available to everyone in the county.

The PTA of Mountain View met Monday night, September 22, at the Home Ec Cottage and honored teachers and their husbands with tea. Mr. Mohn gave an interesting talk about plans for the Mountain View band.

Forty-three members joined at the meeting, and a membership drive is now underway. School children will contact everyone in an attempt to get more members than ever this year, and the class securing the most members will win a prize.

New PTA officers for this year are Mrs. Letis Luther, president; Mrs. Lewis Smith, vice-president; Mrs. Jack Jones, secretary; Mrs. A.A. Lancaster, treasurer; Mrs. Irma Dean Grigsby, parliamentarian; and Mrs. Jack Hinkle, Historian.

The first Mountain View-Ozark Quarter Horse Association Show will be held at the Stone County Fairgrounds Saturday, September 28, it was announced this week by Don Gray, Local horse trainer and secretary of the show.

The show is exclusively to registered quarter horses, and will feature events in halter, performance, and cutting classes. This is the first such show held in Mountain View.

The show is expected to draw horses from all parts of the state and several adjoining states to compete for the top honors in the three classes. Trophies and ribbons will be awarded winners through sixth place.

"We are hoping to have a really fine show the first time and think about 150 horses will be entered," Gray said.

"There are several good quarter horses in this county, and most of the owners belong to the Association. We were glad that we could get a show here, hoping that more interest could be generated in upgrading the quality of horses in the area.

The repair and repaving of city streets damaged by the installation of the water and sewer has been turned over to the city and a local construction firm by the water and sewer contractors.

The city, being paid by the yard, is applying the base for the streets, and Lancaster Sand and Gravel has contracted to do the paving of the streets.

All streets that were previously paved will be repaved with a double seal coating after a crushed gravel base is applied.

academic angle. Forcing communities across the state to undergo the trauma of consolidation can only set back the cause of quality education.

The group also did small schools a major disservice by implying that they really aren't up to snuff when it comes to meeting the standards. This is pure baloney.

Some, granted, are operating on mighty thin ice, revenue-wise, a problem that they intend to take up with the General Assembly this winter.

The call for massive consolidation certainly won't make their selling job any easier. Small schools, however, have been waging a David and Goliath contest with their powerful opponents for some time now, and survived. Each victory gives them more stature than before.

Bill Clinton himself favors consolidation, but has shown no inclination to tangle with communities determined to keep their small schools. Hopefully, others in the pro-consolidation camp will follow his lead.

The tragedy of this whole episode is the fact that the good sulters, in stirring up the consolidation hornets nest, have diverted attention from some of their other more worthwhile objectives for upgrading education.

Ballot position drawing is Monday

The Stone County Election Commission reminds all candidates for public office that there will be a meeting October 3 at 10 a.m. in the court house for the purpose of drawing for position on the November general election ballot.

Tri-County to install furnaces, insulation

The Tri-County School Board voted last week to put a renovation project designed to make the campus more energy-efficient on hold for the time being.

The improvements will include the installation of new furnaces and insulation in the high school. The board members, voicing concern that work would be disruptive if carried out during the school year, decided to postpone it to next spring.

The project will be funded with $10,832 made available by a court decision against Exxon Oil. The school must contribute an additional $8,864.

On a related matter, the group agreed to advertise for bids for the removal of asbestos that has been found in two areas by the federally-mandated inspection program.

It also voted to accept bids for the purchase of a used bus body and tires, employed Gene Wallis to drive a bus to the vocational center at Leslie and accepted, as required, the transfer of two pupils to Calico Rock.

200 pound fullback Adrian Brown was hard to stop on the rain soaked field Friday night when the Mountain View Yellowjackets played the Batesville Pioneers. The 'Jackets held Batesville in check for the first half of the game, but the size and strength of the Pioneers prevailed in the second half.

Yellowjackets fall to Batesville

The fans who were brave enough to sit through a lightning storm and rain that followed saw two different ball games Friday night when the Mountain View Yellowjackets played the Batesville Pioneers in Mountain View.

The teams fought to a 0 to 0 draw in the rain, lightning, and gusting wind the first half of the game, but the second half was all Batesville. Final score... Batesville 33, Mountain View 0.

The game was delayed 15 minutes due to the lightning storm, and some fans began to leave before the opening kickoff. After the storm subsided somewhat, the teams took the field, the Yellowjackets lost the toss, kicked to Batesville, and the game was underway in a steady rain.

Two offensive holding calls against the Pioneers slowed their first drive and forced them to punt. Mountain View also could not make a first down and kicked to Batesville. Neither team could move the ball and two punts later, Batesville found themselves in possession at their own 31 yard line.

The Pioneers mounted a drive with runs by their two 200 pound running backs, Brown and Mitchell, but their drive bogged down around the 21 yard line, and they decided to try a field goal. The attempt missed, and the 'Jackets took over at the 20 as the first quarter came to an end.

Mountain View made one first down on runs by tailback Darryl Sullivan, but came up short at their 36 and had to kick. Shaye Fountain's kick was downed at the 35.

The Pioneers made one first down in Mountain View territory, but on a second down play, an alert Vance Keaton grabbed a Batesville fumble, and Mountain View got the ball back at their 34.

The Yellowjackets came up inches short on a Carl Werb run, but kept their drive alive on a run by Darryl Sullivan on fourth down. Mountain View moved the ball into Batesville territory, but a clipping penalty on a complete pass play moved the 'Jackets back. A long run for a first down by quarterback Shannon Caraway was called back for holding, and a 16 yard Caraway run was not enough to keep the drive alive.

Fountain's kick was downed at the Batesville 14. The Pioneers very well could have been in trouble at this point, but impressive runs by their big running back got them out of danger before they were forced to punt. A 60 yard punt in the rain gave the 'Jackets no choice but to run out the clock at the half.

Mountain View received the kickoff to open the second half, but the Batesville defense held and a partially blocked punt got only to the Mountain View 41. It was at this point in the game that the momentum began to shift to Batesville. Seven plays later, the Pioneers scored on a 1 yard run. The extra point kick made the score Batesville 7, Mountain View 0.

Again, the 'Jackets could not get out of their end of the field, and had to kick. It took Batesville only three plays to score, this time on a 24 yard run by sophomore tailback Craig Melton. The Pioneers kicked the extra point to extend their lead to 14.

The next series of downs was almost a re-run. Mountain View punted to Batesville, and Batesville scored in three plays. Fullback Adrian Brown bulled 48 yards for the score.

Again, Mountain View could not advance and had to kick, but the punt return was fumbled, and Rick Crisman fell on the ball at midfield. The 'Jackets moved into Batesville territory, but came up with a fourth down and 6 situation. With time running out and little to lose against a AAA Conference team, Mountain View decided to go for it. The pass attempt failed, and the ball went over to Batesville on downs.

The Pioneers mounted another drive and Craig Melton scored another touchdown to make the score 27 to 0. With time running out, Mountain View tried desperation passes, only to give Batesville another chance from the Mountain View 36. The Pioneers took advantage of the opportunity and scored the final touchdown with 2:54 left in the game.

Mountain View was only able to pick up 68 yards total offense for the night. Leading rusher was Darryl Sullivan with 30 yards. Shannon Caraway rushed for 22 yards and Carl Werb gained 13 yards.

Coach Ron Willis said, "We played pretty well in the first half, but Batesville's size and strength told on us in the second half."

"We'll have to come back this week against Marshall," the coach said. Mountain View travels to Marshall to play the Bobcats and wind up their non-conference season.

Toughest challenge to come this week Junior 'Jackets roll over Marshall

The Mountain View Junior Yellowjackets had little trouble breezing by the Marshall Junior Bobcats Thursday night at Marshall. The Junior 'Jackets turned in a 38 to 0 victory and had an opportunity to play almost everyone on the team.

Mountain View fumbled the opening kickoff, but after that, the 'Jackets could do no wrong. The juniors had a total offense of 229 yards. Scoring for Mountain View were: Hubert Engle on an 82 yard touchdown run; Jamie Richardson, one touchdown and 77 yards on 12 carries; Adrian Lovenstein, a pass interception and touchdown run of 75 yards; Bubba Gafney, touchdown, and Todd Avey, touchdown. The juniors made four two point conversions to account for the 38 to 0 score.

The Junior 'Jackets are now three and 0 for the season and face possibly their toughest challenge of the season this Thursday when they travel to Mountain Home to play the AAA Conference Junior Bombers. Mountain Home is the only team to defeat the Junior 'Jackets in the last three years.

The 7th grade team did not fare so well against Marshall Thursday, losing their game 14 to 6. Mountain View led 6 to 0 at the half, but were unable to hold on.

Leading ball carrier was Bryan Sullivan with 52 yards on 3 carries and one touchdown. Willie Johnstone rushed for 27 yards on 10 carries. Leading tackler was Chuck Melton with 8 tackles and 5 assists. Scott Rector made 5 tackles and 2 assists, and Jesse Foster made 4 tackles and 3 assists.

With the good attendance at the first meeting, the group is looking forward to a productive year.

Farm Bureau to oppose Fair Tax Amendment

The membership of the Stone County Farm Bureau will be asked to ratify resolutions concerning tax reform and insurance fraud at its annual convention, slated for 6:30 p.m. this Monday at the DAV building.

Mike Severs, chairman of the resolution committee for Stone County, said the local chapters had been asked by the state Farm Bureau to go on record in opposition to the proposal known as the fair tax amendment, which will be on the ballot in November unless struck by the courts.

The second resolution, he added, calls for stepped-up state regulation of the insurance industry to combat fraud.

Schools

A recent report - also prepared by the business community - projects Arkansas can save $25 to $50 billion through wholesale consolidation. This is pure hookum, at least in the eyes of Timbo's superintendent, Ronnie Lee.

"I don't care if they get 2,000 students in there, that thing is going to cost the daylight out of us," he declared. He pointed, as an example, to the fact that larger schools are required by the standards to take on additional administrative personnel. The price tag to build new classrooms at a central location and bus students there from outlying areas would be astronomical, he added.

Rodney Rushing, head of the Rural Special system, echoed his observation, pointing out that "consolidation has never saved any money and never will." He added that the executives needed a good hard dose of reality, such as a study performed by the University of Arkansas that found that consolidation is definitely not a money-saving proposition.

Local officials bristle at the inference by business leaders that they are offering a substandard education.

The staff at all three rural schools is fully certified by the state. Rural Special and Timbo were given an extra year to get in compliance, and did so last summer. Rushing pointed out that the state was in part responsible for creating a labor shortage in certain fields, which gave schools little choice but to send its own people back to school to get the training needed for them to handle the additional requirements.

They also point to the fact that their pupils have held their own on the battery of standardized tests now required by the state. Local students, they contend, have performed at - and in many cases, above - the state average.

The problem, as they see it, is that the businessmen have brought a bottom-line mentality to their report, a concern for efficiency at the expense of all other considerations.

"It bothers me that professional educators aren't involved in the decision-making process," Pace declared.

Lee agreed, noting that other recommendations prepared with the help of the educational community have largely gone ignored.

"These business people buy in bulk and sell in bulk. We're dealing with human beings, and human beings like to be known by their name," he said.

Tri-County's people, in particular, have been frustrated by the renewed call for consolidation.

Pace noted that the communities of Fifty Six and Big Flat recently agreed to the merger of the two schools on the assumption the new district could meet the challenge of the drive for quality education.

They are in no frame of mind to subject themselves to another upheaval, he said.

Timbo will find itself on a somewhat stronger financial footing as a result of its successful campaign to boost its tax rate by nine mills. The school has little in the way of taxable wealth, however; to survive, Lee said, it must have help from the General Assembly this winter.

It's the same story at Tri-County and Rural Special.

Pace pointed out that local property taxes only account for 14 percent of the school's revenue. It would have to double its millage to compensate for the loss of consolidation incentive money alone.

"It's just not realistic," he said. "There has to be some assistance on the state level."

Mrs. Betty Ward of Mountain View retired recently as bookkeeper and office manager of Modern Builders. Mrs. Ward was bookkeeper of the firm for 11 years. She was honored August 15 at a marketing seminar for Modern Builders at the Ozark Folk Center.

Eldridge disqualified as write-in candidate for state representative

By Fran Fulton

Steve Eldridge's write-in campaign against the veteran representative, John Miller of Melbourne, came to an untimely end this month because the challenger wasn't notified of a filing deadline by the staff of Secretary of State Bill McCuen.

Eldridge, likewise a resident of Izard County, first squared off against Miller last year as the chief spokesman for the Prison Opposition Committee. Although frustrated enough to be contemplating legal action Saturday, Eldridge said he didn't blame his opponent for the foul-up.

"I'm not accusing John Miller of anything out of order," he declared. "What happened was a series of misunderstandings.

"I accept my part of the responsibility, but I'm extremely disappointed that the secretary of state's office couldn't provide simple instructions."

After several conversations with the attorney for the secretary of state and a representative of the office's Election Law Library, Eldridge said he had been told only that he would need to file a letter of intent with the local election commissioners as well as the secretary of state. He did so and believed he was in good standing as a write-in candidate.

On September 8, he received another form, a political practice pledge. There was a handwritten note asking only that he fill out the document, but not indicating a date by which it had to be submitted.

Eldridge waited several days to get it in the mail, only to find out that he had missed the September 9 deadline.

"I thought this was just paperwork for their records," he explained. "If I'd known what the deadline was, I would have hand-carried it to Little Rock and been waiting when the secretary of state's office opened its doors."

A member of McCuen's staff confirmed that state officials had erred in not notifying the candidate of the filing timetable. She said she had assumed that Eldridge was aware of this information, but, as September 9 approached, had tried to telephone his house with a reminder.

Eldridge works and was out of pocket when the calls came.

The development represented the latest in a series of setbacks that have befallen the prison opponents.

The state Board of Correction swept aside the group's protests and agreed early this year to proceed with its construction plans.

Ironically, timing again appeared to be a major stumbling block. State officials contend that the group had mounted its challenge too late in the decision-making process, arguing a site near Calico Rock had already been chosen by the time the opposition picked up steam last fall.

The committee sought a court injunction to block the project, but again came up short last June. This decision is now scheduled for review by a state appellate court.

The group had pushed unsuccessfully for a countywide vote on the controversial prison plans, and Eldridge had said he had hoped his write-in candidacy would serve as referendum on the issue.

"If we'd had a vote on the thing, it would all be done with," he said.

Meanwhile, a special task force formed by the governor to examine the objections raised by the prison opponents continues its work. Dave White, a correction department spokesman, reported that construction plans will remain on hold until the group is able to make a final report to the governor.

Firewood cutting permits to be issued

Firewood cutting permits and maps of public firewood areas on the Sylamore Ranger District will be issued from the U.S. Forest Service office beginning on September 30 from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m. on weekdays, District Ranger Richard Mills has announced. Cutting under permits issued on September 30 may begin on Saturday, October 1.

A $10 fee will be charged to offset the administrative cost of writing the permits and managing the firewood cutting areas, Mills said.

Forest Service officials will, in the next few weeks, be going to communities around the district to issue firewood permits. They will be at the Calico Rock Post Office from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. and at Norfolk from 12:30 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. on October 5. Permits will be issued at Big Flat from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m. on October 7.

Mills said issuance of permits is beginning later this year to allow more new firewood areas to be ready. Required erosion control seeding by contractors, which begins in mid-September, must be completed prior to issuing any permits on an area. The permits will be for a certain area on a first come, first served basis while supplies last.

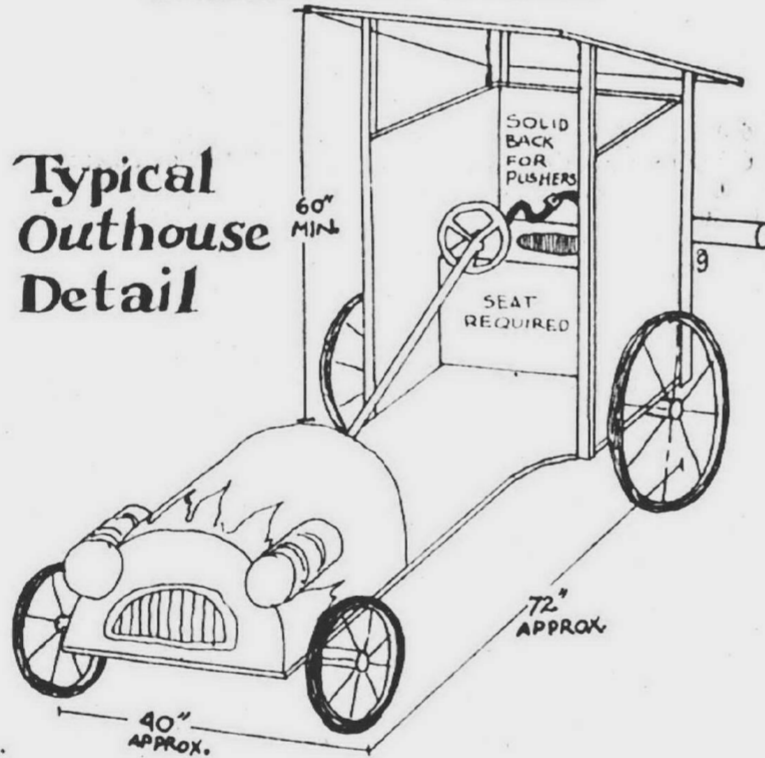

"I'd recommend that anyone interested in firewood first get a map and check the areas out before paying for a permit because the permits are non-refundable and non-transferable."

He said the firewood permits are for home use only and the wood is not to be sold or traded by the person holding the permit. Permits must be obtained in person. Further information about the firewood cutting policy can be obtained from the District Ranger, P.O. Box 1, Mountain View, AR 72560.

Art Guild sets plans for Center workshop

A large group of members attended the Art Guild meeting at the Ozark Restaurant Monday night September 1.

Plans were finalized for a workshop at the Ozark Folk Center October 3 and 4. G.C. Stewart of Hot Springs will instruct the two day workshop. All members who plan to attend must register prior to the workshop.

Paintings of the month were won by Kent Landrum, first place; Carolyn Riley, second, and Lucille Whitworth, third. These three paintings will be on display at the Ozark Restaurant through September.

Sally Schiermeier's painting was chosen for display at the Bank of Mountain View and Kent Landrum's painting at Home Savings for September. Door prize was won by Dorothy Gayler.

After the fair closed, Art Guild President Mary Flatt and Fair Committee Chairman Kent Landrum made their report. The art exhibit consisted of fifty entries. Jerry Poole of UCA at Conway judged the paintings. Best of Show was a water color entitled "The Hunt" by Guy Harris.

On November 8, 1988 vote for:
William H. Wade, Republican Justice of Peace District 9, Stone County Arkansas

This candidate is committed to the idea (we cannot afford NOT to have adequate, well planned county and state roads that are safe and designed to move people and commerce economically).

The current road systems are grossly inadequate to effectively and efficiently move traffic to destination. The current county and state roads are inadequate, destroys vehicles, tires, and all to frequently destroys produce and human life, and creates vehicles prematurely that are unsafe, prohibitive in repair cost. In essence steals potential income and revenue, and the competitive advantage in the market.

The economic development of the whole county is dependent upon adequate and safe roads along with other services.

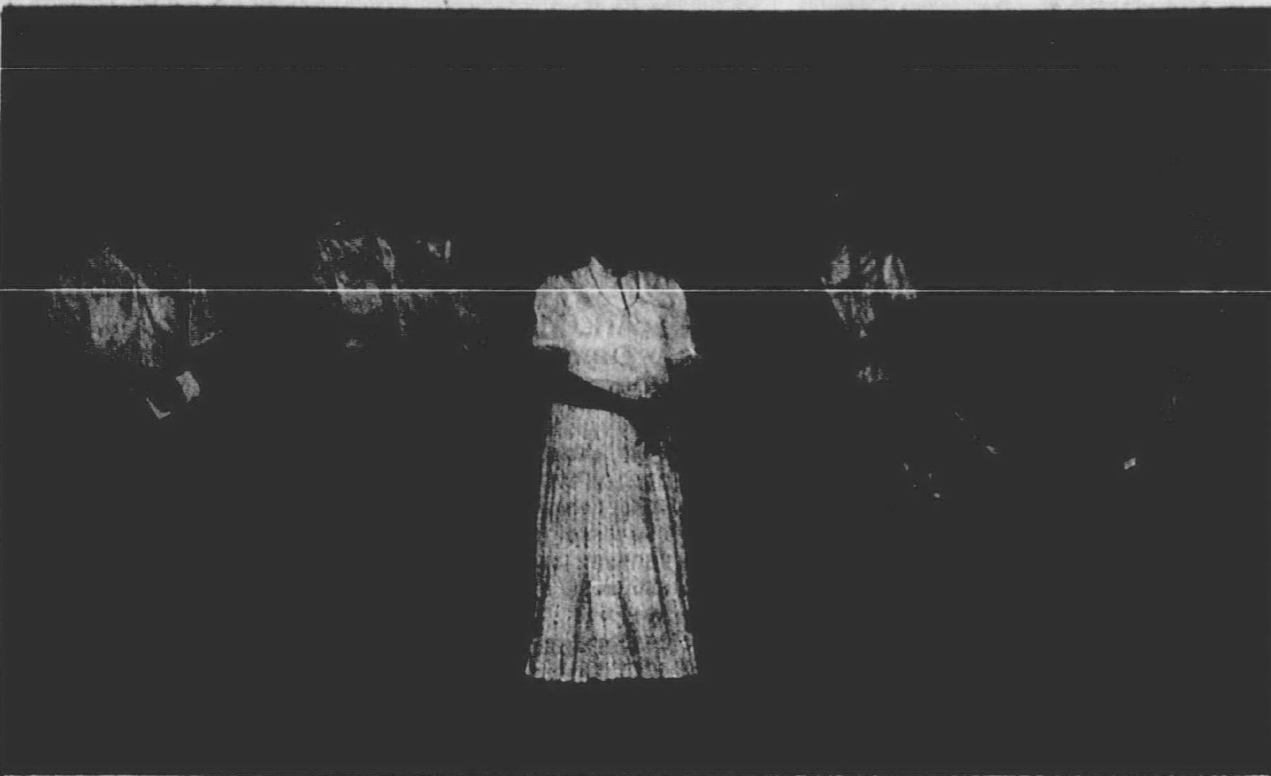

Historically, where roads and services go, so go the people and commerce. Roads are investments in the present and future. I propose and earnestly believe we should establish a goal to get our citizens and commerce out of the mud and dust by 2010 or 2020.

Mr. Leon Massey of Searcy visited the Bud Whaley's on Friday returning home on Saturday. Mrs. Glenda Engle was hostess to the Herpel EH Club. We elected new officers and program leaders for the coming year. Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Williams visited the Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Williams on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. L.T. Williams visited Mrs. Mary Sanders and Pete and Earlene Carter one day this week. Millard and Alice Condrey made a business trip to Batesville on Monday. Mr. Boyd Earley is expected home today for a rest between jobs. I saw the road patrols out on the Herpel road today. What we really need is this road paved instead of spending tax dollars to make a big super highway to encourage tourists. It needs to be used to benefit some of the people who pay taxes. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Nesbitt visited Mr. and Mrs. Mark Rector and family at Humnoke for the last few days. They returned home today.

Donal Condrey had an auto accident on Wednesday but was not seriously injured. Mr. Hurl Condrey made a trip to Little Rock today to see his doctor.

Lois Farris had the misfortune of dropping a bed railing on her foot this week. The foot is pretty sore. Larry and Vickie Jenkins and baby daughter of Little Rock visited the Ivy's a few days. Gene and Hazel Gammill went to Little Rock Monday to the doctor. Hazel had minor surgery on her nose. She will return to the hospital soon for another check up and x-rays. I received word this week that Jessica White, my little great niece of Mountain View, was in the Children's Hospital at Little Rock with spinal meningitis. She was reported a little better Wednesday.

Iron Mtn. EHC

By Mary Bentrup
September 13 was our first meeting after the hot and humid months of July and August. We added the names of two new members to our roster, Kathy Prescott and Sarah Stanbaugh. We hope they find our club to be educational, as well as interesting, and upon occasion even entertaining. After conducting the business we all shared the delicious refreshments prepared by our hostess, Delores Oren. Our annual family picnic was August 26 at the home of Gil and Mary Bentrup. The original date was set for July, but because of the oppressive heat and humidity, it was necessary to postpone it until the weather improved. As soon as the humidity dropped we jumped right in on very short notice and had one of the nicest picnics ever. It was well worth waiting for, and all tolled we counted 33 men, women and children. The food prepared would have won blue ribbons anywhere, and everyone seemed to have a field-hand's appetite. As darkness approached and goodbyes were exchanged, we started talking of next year's picnic and the good Lord willing, we'll all gather here again. Our next meeting will be October 11 at Hazel McNutt's home.

Luber/Signal Hill EHC

Met at Luber School September 13 for our regular meeting. We had six present, one absent with sickness in her family. We reorganized and worked on some of our projects. We were very proud of our booth at the fair. Thanks to several people. Edith Prince and Carlee Ergle selected and assembled the materials. Carlee did the work of making it up and Marianne Brem set it up. We thank them all. Marianne presided at a short business session. Carlee had a cute eye opener. Then we worked. Marianne and Francis Gill worked on the scrapbook and Carlee and Edith worked on our quilt and Audrey and I watched them work. Sure hope we never run out of willing workers. Next meeting will be at the school house October 11 at 7.

REFERRED QUESTION FROM ACT 686 OF 1987 (REFERRED TO THE PEOPLE BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY) TO BE VOTED UPON AT THE GENERAL ELECTION ON NOVEMBER 8, 1988
"ARKANSAS WASTE DISPOSAL AND POLLUTION ABATEMENT FACILITIES FINANCING ACT OF 1987"

"AN ACT AUTHORIZING THE ARKANSAS SOIL AND WATER CONSERVATION COMMISSION TO ISSUE WASTE DISPOSAL AND POLLUTION ABATEMENT FACILITIES GENERAL OBLIGATION BONDS IN TOTAL PRINCIPAL AMOUNT NOT TO EXCEED $250,000,000 IN SERIES FROM TIME TO TIME IN PRINCIPAL AMOUNTS NOT TO EXCEED, WITHOUT PRIOR APPROVAL OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY, $50,000,000 IN ANY FISCAL BIENNIAL FOR THE PURPOSE OF FINANCING WASTE DISPOSAL AND POLLUTION ABATEMENT FACILITIES TO SERVE THE INHABITANTS OF THE STATE OF ARKANSAS; SUBMITTING THE QUESTION OF THE ISSUANCE OF BONDS AT THE 1988 GENERAL ELECTION, PRESCRIBING OTHER MATTERS RELATING THERETO; AND FOR OTHER PURPOSES."

BE IT ENACTED BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE STATE OF ARKANSAS:

SECTION 1. This Act may be referred to and cited as the "Arkansas Waste Disposal and Pollution Abatement Facilities Financing Act of 1987".
SECTION 2. (a) The Arkansas Soil and Water Conservation Commission is hereby authorized to issue bonds of the State of Arkansas, to be known as State of Arkansas Waste Disposal and Pollution Abatement Facilities General Obligation Bonds (the "Bonds"), in total principal amount not to exceed Two Hundred Fifty Million dollars ($250,000,000), for the purposes set forth herein. The Bonds may be issued in one or more series as required subject to the conditions and in compliance with the procedures set forth herein. (b) The total principal amount of Bonds to be issued during any fiscal biennium shall not exceed Fifty Million Dollars ($50,000,000), unless the General Assembly shall, by law, have authorized a greater principal amount thereof to be issued during a fiscal biennium. Provided further that: before any Bonds may be issued during any fiscal biennium, the Arkansas Soil and Water Conservation Commission shall submit to the Governor a written plan for the work or project(s) to be financed with the proceeds derived from the sale of such Bonds, the need for, and the estimated benefits thereof. Upon receipt thereof, the Governor shall confer with the Chief Fiscal Officer of the State concerning whether the annual amount of general revenue funds required to be set aside from the "general revenues", as such term is defined in the Revenue Stabilization Law of Arkansas, for payment of debt service requirements in connection with the Bonds during either year of the fiscal biennium in which the Bonds are to be issued, would require monies from the "general revenues for allocation" that would work undue hardship upon any agency or program supported from general revenues under the provisions of the Revenue Stabilization Law. (c) Upon conclusion of such studies, and after obtaining the advice of the Legislative Council thereon, the Governor shall, if he deems the same to be in the public interest, by proclamation, authorize the Commission to proceed with the issuance of the Bonds as provided herein. (d) If the Governor shall decline or refuse to give his approval for the issuance of such Bonds, and shall decline to issue a proclamation approving the issuance thereof, the Governor shall promptly notify the Commission, in writing, and the Commission shall not issue such Bonds, but it may thereafter, but not sooner than one (1) year from the date of the earlier submission, resubmit a request to the Governor for the issuance thereof. The issue as resubmitted to the Governor shall be dealt with in the same manner as provided for the initial request for authority to issue the Bonds.
SECTION 3. In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires, (1) "Commission" means the Arkansas Soil and Water Conservation Commission, and any successor agency or department; (2) "debt service" means principal, interest, redemption premiums, if any, and trustees' and paying agents' and like servicing fees relative to the Bonds; (3) "develop" means to construct, acquire (by purchase or, as set forth herein, by eminent domain), own, operate, lease as lessor or lessee, lend, make grants in respect of, or install or equip any lands, buildings, improvements, machinery, equipment, or other properties of whatever nature, real, personal or mixed; (4) "person" means any individual partnership or corporation, or any county, municipality, conservation district, or school district in the State of Arkansas, or agency thereof, or any agency of the State of Arkansas; (5) "project" means any lands, buildings, improvements, conservation practices, machinery, equipment, or other property, real, personal or mixed, or any combination thereof, developed in pursuance of all or any part of the purposes of this Act; (6) "project costs" means all or any part of the costs of developing any project hereunder, costs incidental or appropriate thereto and costs incidental or appropriate to the financing thereof (including, without limitation, capitalized interest and appropriate reserves and fees and costs for engineering, legal, and other administrative and consultant services); (7) "waste" means any liquid or solid produced as an undesirable byproduct of any activity; (8) "pollution abatement" means reduction, control or elimination by appropriate methods of such contamination, or other alteration of the physical, chemical or biological properties, of any waters of the State, or such discharge of any liquid, gaseous or solid substance in any waters of the State as will or is likely to create a nuisance or render such waters harmful or detrimental or injurious to public health, safety or welfare, or to domestic, commercial, industrial, agricultural, recreational, or other legitimate beneficial uses, or to livestock, wild animals, birds, fish or other aquatic life.
SECTION 4. (a) The Bonds shall be issued, in series, as set forth herein, in amounts sufficient to finance all or any part of project costs with the respective series to be designated in alphabetical order and/or by the year in which issued. (b) The Bonds of each series shall have such date as the Commission shall determine and shall mature annually (or be subject to mandatory sinking fund redemption) over a period ending not later than thirty (30) years after the date of the Bonds of each series so as to provide annual debt service of approximately equal amounts (insofar as practicable) throughout the term of the Bonds, as determined by the Commission. Pending the issuance of Bonds hereunder, the Commission may issue temporary notes, maturing not more than five (5) years from the date of issuance, to be exchanged for or paid from the proceeds of Bonds at such time as the Bonds may be issued. (c) The Bonds of each series shall bear interest at the rate or rates accepted by the Commission at the public sale of the Bonds. Interest shall be payable at such times as the Commission shall determine. (d) The Bonds may be issued in the form of coupon bonds, payable to bearer, or as bonds registered as to principal only with interest coupons, or as bonds registered as to both principal and interest without coupons, may be in such denominations, and may be made exchangeable for Bonds of another form or denomination, bearing the same rate of interest may be made payable at such places within or without the State, may be made subject to redemption prior to maturity in such manner and for such redemption prices, and may contain such other terms and conditions, all as the Commission shall determine. (e) The Bonds, of each series, shall have all the qualities of negotiable instruments under the laws of the State of Arkansas, subject to the provisions regarding registration of ownership set forth above.
SECTION 5. Bonds issued under the Act shall be issued for the purpose of financing and development of waste disposal facilities and/or pollution abatement facilities, and the proceeds of the Bonds shall be applied for the payment of project costs and the costs and expenses of issuance of the Bonds.
SECTION 6. (a) The Bonds shall be authorized by resolution of the Commission. Each such resolution shall contain such terms, covenants, and conditions as are deemed desirable, including without limitation, those pertaining to the establishment and maintenance of funds and accounts, to the deposit and investment of revenues and of Bond proceeds and to the rights and obligations of the State, its officers and officials, the Commission and the holders or registered owners of the Bonds. The resolution of the Commission may provide for the execution and delivery by the Commission of a trust indenture or trust instruments, with a bank or banks located within or without the State, containing any of the terms, covenants, and conditions referred to above, which trust indenture or trust instruments shall be binding upon the State, and its officers and officials, to the extent set forth in this Act. (b) Any resolution or trust indenture adopted or executed under this Section 6 shall provide that power is reserved to apply to the payment of debt service on the Bonds issued or secured thereunder all or any part of the revenues derived from any project financed by such Bonds, and, to the extent of such revenues, to release from any requirement of such resolution or trust indenture other revenues and resources of the State, including without limitation, the "general revenues for allocation" required to be transferred under Section 11 hereof. (c) The Commission shall endeavor to select projects for financing and development under this Act which offer reasonable and realistic prospects of the production of revenues, whether by direct user fees, taxes, or otherwise.

SECTION 7. Each Bond shall be signed with the facsimile signatures of the Governor, the Secretary of State and the Chairman of the Commission and by the manual signature of the Treasurer of State or by one or more deputies of the Treasurer of State, and shall have affixed or imprinted thereon the Great Seal of the State. Interest coupons attached to the bonds, if any, shall be signed with the facsimile signature of the Treasurer of State. Delivery of the Bonds and coupons so executed shall be valid, notwithstanding any change in persons holding such offices occurring after the Bonds have been executed.

SECTION 8. Bonds shall be sold at public sale on sealed bids, after notice published by the Chairman of the Commission by at least one (1) insertion not less than twenty (20) days before the date of sale in a newspaper published in the City of Little Rock, Arkansas, and in a financial newspaper or journal published in the Borough of Manhattan, City and State of New York, which notice shall contain such other terms and provisions as the Commission determines to be desirable. The Commission shall award the sale of the Bonds to the bidder offering to purchase the Bonds at a price which results in the lowest net interest cost to the State of Arkansas (determined by computing the total interest cost from date to maturity, and deducting therefrom any premium bid and adding thereto the amount of any discount bid); provided, however, that the Commission shall reserve the right to reject all bids tendered at such public sale. The Commission may employ administrative agents, fiscal agents, and legal counsel and may pay them reasonable compensation from the proceeds of the Bonds. The costs of publication of notices and of printing of the Bonds, official statements and other documents relating to the sale of the Bonds shall be paid from the proceeds of the Bonds.

SECTION 9. The proceeds from the sale of the Bonds, together with all revenues derived by the Commission from any project financed under this Act, shall be deposited by the Commission, as received, into trust funds in the State Treasury, to accomplish the purposes of this Act, in amounts or portions as set forth in the resolution or trust indenture authorizing or securing the Bonds issued to finance the development of project, into trust funds created hereby and designated as follows:
(a) into the Waste Disposal and Pollution Abatement Facilities Construction Fund (the "Construction Fund"), to provide for the development of projects and the payment of the costs and expenses of the issuance of the Bonds;
(b) into the Waste Disposal and Pollution Abatement Facilities Bond Fund (the "Bond Fund"), to provide for payment for all or a part of debt service on Bonds issued under this Act;
(c) into the Waste Disposal and Pollution Abatement Facilities Debt Service Reserve Fund (the "Debt Service Reserve Fund"), to provide for a reserve or reserves for payment of debt service on the Bonds;
(d) into the Waste Disposal and Pollution Abatement Facilities Operation and Maintenance Fund (the "Operation and Maintenance Fund"), to provide for all or a part of the operation and maintenance of the projects financed under this Act.

The Treasurer of State is authorized and directed to establish separate accounts within such Funds to correspond to the applicable series of Bonds. In addition, there may be created in the State Treasury such other Funds, accounts, or subaccounts as the Commission may determine in said resolution or trust indenture to be necessary to accomplish the purposes of this Act.
SECTION 10. The Bonds shall be the direct general obligations of the State of Arkansas, for the payment of debt service on which the full faith and credit of the State of Arkansas are hereby irrevocably pledged so long as any such Bonds are outstanding. The Bonds shall be payable from the "general revenues" of the State as such term is defined in the Revenue Stabilization Law of Arkansas, and such amount of "general revenues" as is necessary is hereby pledged to the payment of debt service on the Bonds, and shall be and remain pledged for such purposes.

SECTION 11. On or before commencement of each fiscal year, the Chief Fiscal Officer of the State shall determine the estimated amount required for payment for all or a part of debt service on the Bonds issued under this Act during such fiscal year, after making deductions therefrom of estimated monies to be available to the Commission from other sources therefor, and shall certify such estimated amount to the Treasurer of State. The Treasurer of State shall then make monthly transfers from the State Apportionment Fund to the Bond Fund, of such amount of "general revenues for allocation," as such term is defined in the Revenue Stabilization Law of Arkansas, as shall be required to pay the maturing debt service on Bonds issued under this Act.
The Treasurer of State shall make such additional monthly transfer or transfers of "general revenues for allocation" as the Chief Fiscal Officer of the State shall certify to him as being required to enable the Commission to establish and thereafter maintain the Debt Service Reserve Fund, to provide a reserve or reserves for payment of debt service on the Bonds. The obligation to make monthly transfers of "general revenues for allocation" from the State Apportionment Fund to the Bond Fund and to the Debt Service Reserve Fund shall constitute a first charge against said "general revenues for allocation" prior to all other uses to which said "general revenues for allocation" are devoted, either under present law or under any laws that may be enacted in the future; provided, however, that to the extent other general obligation bonds of the State may subsequently be issued, all such general obligation bonds shall rank on a parity of security with respect to payment from "general revenues for allocation".
Monies credited to the Bond Fund and the Debt Service Reserve Fund shall be used only for the purpose of paying debt service on the Bonds, either at maturity or upon redemption prior to maturity, and for such purposes the Treasurer of State is hereby designated Disbursing Officer to administer such funds in accordance with the provisions of this Act.
The Debt Service Reserve Fund shall be held and used to insure prompt payment of debt service on the Bonds in such manner and pursuant to such conditions as may be specified by the Commission in the resolution or trust indenture authorizing or securing such Bonds. If the question is presented at the general election of 1988, notice thereof shall be published by the Secretary of State in a newspaper of general circulation in the State at least sixty (60) days prior to the general election, and notice thereof shall be mailed to each county board of election commissioners and the sheriff of each county at least sixty (60) days prior to the general election.

It shall not be necessary, in the case of the notice or proclamation for the election, to publish this Act in its entirety, but the notice or proclamation shall state that it is issued for the purpose of submitting to the people substantially the following question:

Shall the Arkansas Soil and Water Conservation Commission be authorized to issue State Waste Disposal and Pollution Abatement Facilities General Obligation Bonds under the authority of the Arkansas Waste Disposal and Pollution Abatement Facilities Financing Act of 1987 in total principal amount not to exceed Two Hundred Fifty Million Dollars ($250,000,000), in series from time to time in principal amounts not to exceed, without prior approval of the General Assembly, Fifty Million Dollars ($50,000,000) in any fiscal biennium, which Bonds shall be secured by a pledge of the full faith and credit of the State of Arkansas?

Whether the question is presented at special election or at the general election of 1988, the title of this Act shall be the ballot title, and there shall be printed on the ballot the proposition as stated above, and the following:

FOR Issuance of Arkansas Waste Disposal and Pollution Abatement Facilities General Obligation Bonds.

AGAINST Issuance of Arkansas Waste Disposal and Pollution Abatement Facilities General Obligation Bonds.

The county boards of election commissioners of the several counties of the State shall hold and conduct the election, and each such board is hereby authorized and directed to take such action with respect to the appointment of election officials and such other matters as the law requires; and the vote shall be canvassed and the result thereof declared in each county by such several county boards. The results shall within ten (10) days after the date of the election be certified by such county boards to the Secretary of State who shall forthwith tabulate all returns so received by him and certify to the Governor the total vote for and against the proposition submitted as in this Section provided.

The result of the election shall be proclaimed by the Governor by publication one time in a newspaper published in the city of Little Rock, Arkansas, and the results as proclaimed shall be conclusive unless attacked in the courts within thirty (30) days after the date of such publication.

SECTION 17. If a majority of the qualified electors voting on the question shall vote for the issuance of the bonds, the Commission shall proceed with the sale and the issuance of the Bonds as provided in this Act. If a majority of the qualified electors voting on the question vote against the issuance of the Bonds, none of the Bonds authorized by this Act shall ever be sold or issued, and all provisions of this Act shall be of no further effect.

SECTION 18. Any moneys held in any fund created under this Act shall be invested by the State Board of Finance to the full extent practicable pending disbursement for the purposes intended. SECTION 19. If, for any reason any Section or provision of this Act shall be held to be unconstitutional or invalid for any reason, such holding shall not affect the remainder of this Act, but this Act, insofar as it is not in conflict with the Constitution of the State or the Constitution of the United States, shall be permitted to stand, and the various provisions of this Act are hereby declared to severable for that purpose. Any case involving the validity of this Act or involving the Bonds issued hereunder, shall be deemed of public interest and shall be advanced by all courts and heard as a preferred cause, and all appeals from judgments or decrees rendered in such cases must be taken within thirty (30) days after rendition of such judgement or decree.

SECTION 20. (a) This Act shall be liberally construed to accomplish the purposes thereof. This Act shall constitute the sole authority necessary to accomplish the purposes hereof, and to this end it shall not be necessary that the provisions of other laws pertaining to the development of public facilities and properties and the financing thereof be complied with.

(b) This Act shall be interpreted to supplement existing laws conferring rights and powers upon the Commission, and the rights and powers set forth herein shall be regarded as alternative methods for the accomplishment of the purposes of this Act.

SECTION 21. EMERGENCY. It has been found and it is hereby declared by the General Assembly that there is an immediate need for the development of waste disposal facilities to provide for the safe, sanitary disposal of both liquid and solid wastes produced by municipalities, individuals, industries, or agriculture and for the development of pollution abatement facilities to reduce pollution of the State's water resources. For these reasons, it is declared necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety that this Act become effective without delay. (i) Any public official who is employed by any business which is under direct regulation or subject to direct control by the governmental body which he serves shall set out such employment and the fact that the business is regulated by or subject to control of the governmental body on the statement of financial interest.

(j) If a public official or any business in which he or she or his or her spouse is an officer, director, stockholder owning more than ten percent (10%) of the stock of the company, owner, trustee, or partner shall sell any goods or services having a total annual value in excess of one thousand dollars ($1,000.00) to the governmental body in which the public official serves or is employed, then the public official shall set out in detail the goods or services sold, the governmental body to which they were sold, and the compensation paid for each category of goods or services sold.

21-8-702. Forms used by persons in filing statements as required in this subchapter shall provide for the signature of the person, under penalty of perjury, with respect to the truth and accuracy of the statements made on the form.

SUBCHAPTER 8. CONFLICT OF INTEREST, PROHIBITED ACTS

21-8-801. No public official shall: (a) Receive a gift or compensation as defined in subchapter four of this chapter, other than income and benefits from the governmental body to which he or she is duly entitled, for the performance of the duties and responsibilities of his or her office or position;

(b) Purposely use or disclose to any other person or entity confidential government information acquired by him or her in the course of and by reason of the public official's official duties, to secure anything of material value or benefit for himself or herself or his or her family;

21-8-802. (a) No legislator shall appear for compensation on behalf of another person, firm, corporation or entity before any entity of state government.

(b) This section shall not: (1) Apply to any judicial proceeding or to any hearing or proceeding which is adversarial in nature or character;

(2) Apply to any hearing or proceeding on which a record is made by the entity of State government;

(3) Apply to an appearance which is a matter of public record;

(4) Apply to ministerial actions; or

(5) Preclude a legislator from acting on behalf of a constituent to determine the status of a matter without accepting compensation.

(c) An appearance which is a matter of public record as provided in A.C.A. 21-8-802 (b) (3) may be made by: (1) Filing a written statement within twenty-four (24) hours with the agency head of the entity of state government before which an appearance is sought. In the event that a written statement cannot be provided to the agency head prior to the meeting, telephonic notice must be given the agency head or his office; or

(2) Filing a quarterly statement with the agency head of the entity of state government before which an appearance is sought.

(d) A statement filed under A.C.A. 21-8-802(c) shall identify the client on behalf of whom the appearance is made and contain a general statement of the action sought from the governmental body. The statements shall be retained by the agency head and shall be a matter of public record. If the agency head determines that the release of the client's name would be an unwarranted invasion of individual privacy or would give advantage to competitors for bidding, the agency head may withhold the name until appropriate.

21-8-803. A member of the General Assembly who is required to take an action in the discharge of his official duties that may affect his financial interest or cause financial benefit or detriment to him, or a business in which he or she is an officer, director, stockholder owning more than ten percent (10%) of the stock of the company, owner, trustee, partner or employee, which is distinguishable from the effects of the action on the public generally or a broad segment of the public shall: (1) Prepare a written statement describing the matter requiring action and stating the potential conflict;

(2) Deliver a copy of the statement to the Secretary of State to be filed with statement of financial interest. The copy of the statement may be delivered in person by the public official, by mail or by a person authorized by the public official to deliver the copy.

(3) The obligation to report a potential conflict of interest under this section arises as soon as the member of the General Assembly is aware of the conflict. If the statement of financial interest filed by the member of the General Assembly makes the conflict readily apparent, then no report need be filed.
